

Women of the East Begin to Assert Power

By THE CANADIAN PRESS

In Israel a woman shapes foreign policy. . . . Ceylon has a woman prime minister. . . . In Nationalist China and South Viet Nam women act as powers behind the throne.

These cases, and others not so prominent, reflect the fact that women are emerging from obscurity in the Eastern world. While Arab countries still relegate women to the background, Mrs. Golda Meir, first as Israel's labor minister and now as foreign minister, has been a major figure in Middle Eastern politics.

And, unlike many of her sister politicians in the Far East who entered politics through marriage, Mrs. Meir rose on her abilities as an orator and organizer.

MEIR

Now a widow of 65, Mrs. Meir was born in the Russian Ukraine and grew up in Milwaukee, moving after her marriage to Palestine. She worked as a laborer on a "kibbutz" settlement, organized trade unions and helped to smuggle immigrants into the British-administered territory.

On one occasion she went through British lines with a sten gun hidden in her skirt. Years later she travelled into hostile territory disguised as an Arab to negotiate with a Bedouin chieftain.

Her turbulent training contrasts vividly with that of Mrs. Sirimavo Bandaranaike of Ceylon, the world's only woman prime minister.

was brought up in upper-class cloistered surroundings and took no active part in politics before the day in 1959 when an assassin shot and killed her husband, Prime Minister Solomon Bandaranaike, on the porch of their home.

Mrs. Bandaranaike, although she says she never wanted the post, accepted the leadership of her husband's party, became prime minister in 1960 and since then has become a controversial figure both in Ceylon and throughout the Far East.

She has struggled with monumental problems at home—opposition from minority groups, labor unrest, economic troubles and an attempted coup d'état. Last year she took the lead in drafting a "non-aligned" peace plan to solve the India-China border clash.

MME. CHIANG

Sometimes accused of being Communist, Mrs. Bandaranaike in reply once quoted President Kennedy as saying: "If a free society cannot help the many who are poor, it can never save the few who are rich."

While Mrs. Bandaranaike has often been embroiled in controversy, her public statements are tame compared with those of Mrs. Ngo Dinh Nhu, the dark-eyed, tiny and strong-willed "first lady" of South Viet Nam.

Mrs. Nhu, sister-in-law and longtime adviser to bachelor President Ngo Dinh Diem, has come to prominence in recent weeks with her crackling comments on Buddhist demonstrations for religious equality.

DRILL NEW ESCAPE HOLE TO FREE THREE MINERS

HAZLETON, Pa. (AP)—Drilling of a new escape hole for three trapped miners began today.

Two of the men, trapped 331 feet underground and able to talk to the surface through a six-inch hole, reported they had re-established contact after nearly 40 hours, with a companion who is separated from them by a wall of debris in the tunnel where they fled after the main mine shaft walls collapsed eight days ago.

The third man is Louis Bova, 42. The other trapped men, David Fellin, 58, and Henry Throne, 28, set off a scene of wild rejoicing on the surface late Tuesday night when they told of talking briefly with Bova, and then getting answering knocks on the mine wall after they no longer could maintain voice contact with him.

Fellin and Throne requested, and received, small tools to try to dig toward where Bova is trapped.

Two six-inch rescue holes have been drilled into the mine—the lifeline one through which Fellin and Throne talk and receive supplies and the second one which broke through Monday night into the area where Bova is believed trapped.

Mine officials expressed great concern for Bova.

Bova's wife, Eva, 32, continued to hold out hope after learning of the report from the other miners.

However, one of his brothers, Peter, 58, who was trapped for seven days in a mine cave-in in 1928, said:

"My brother is going to die. I know it and he knows it. But his wife is there and he doesn't want her to know the truth. He's been a miner too long not to realize the shape he's in."

Drilling of a new escape hole began shortly after dawn today as a dense fog shrouded the area.

Hunger Strikers At Prison Gates

AGASSIZ, B.C. (CP)—More than 500 Sons of Freedom Doukhobors camping around the gates of Mountain Prison have gone on a hunger strike in sympathy with 116 members of the sect behind the prison's bars.

Meanwhile, 43 of the inmates who have gone without food for 30 days were being fed by prison officials.

Some were drinking egg nog from cups but others, including 19 women, had to be fed through rubber tubes inserted through the nose into the stomach.

Meanwhile, Kent municipal council was to meet today with RCMP officials in an attempt to solve the problem faced by the municipality with the arrival of the Doukhobors from Vancouver Tuesday.

The Doukhobite campsite, 200 yards from the prison gates, apparently violates a Kent municipal bylaw prohibiting tent camps of more than 10 persons on an acre.

Mrs. Lewis Davis, wife of the acting reeve, said municipal authorities had decided to "let them stay overnight." She said it was hoped a solution would be found today.

FORCED TO EAT

Warden Tom Hall said the imprisoned sect members are aware their brothers and sisters are camped outside the prison, but are "passive." He said 63 of the Doukhobites were being force fed due to their "dangerously weak" condition.

Mountain Prison, built in an isolated area 60 miles east of Vancouver, was constructed last year by the federal government especially for convicted Doukhobite terrorists.

It is made of pre-fabricated steel and concrete and is fireproof. The prison is separate.

New Ferry Authority Due in '64

The B.C. Toll Bridges and Highways Authority will be abolished at the next session of the legislature, Premier Bennett announced today.

It will be replaced by a new government ferry authority, he said.

The Toll Authority will be left with only its ferry operations when tolls are lifted from the Deas Island Tunnel and Oak Street Bridge next April 1.

Mr. Bennett said all present toll bridge and highway facilities will then be handed over to the highways department.

COST $34 MILLION
It will cost more than $34,000,000 to pay off the debt on the bridge and tunnel.

Mr. Bennett said the money will come from the current year's provincial revenues, which will hit a new record, and from the revenue surplus account, which now consists of $24,000,000.

Mr. Bennett held a press conference the day after his return from a week-long trip to England and France.

He said financial reports he received from B.C. while away prompted his decision to lift the only remaining bridge tolls.

"NEVER AGAIN"
"As long as I'm premier there will never be a toll bridge in B.C. again," he pledged.

Current toll on the tunnel is 50 cents. The Oak St. bridge costs 25 cents.

At March 31 this year the total debt outstanding on both was $35,229,473.

By next April 1, this will be reduced by something under $1,000,000 on the basis on recent years payments.

Although toll revenue last year topped $2,000,000, the bridge and tunnel operated at a net deficit of $340,906.

The Toll Authority, set up in 1953, was originally supposed to build highways and bridges, financing them from tolls.

The act establishing it specifies that tolls shall not be removed until all debt is cleared.

In 1960, the Toll Authority went into the ferry business in a big way with its Swartz Bay-Tsawwassen service.

In 1961 it bought the Gulf Islands service, and at the end of the year took over the Black Ball services between Nanaimo and Horseshoe Bay and on the Sechart Peninsula. Debt soared to more than $100,000,000.

But this spring tolls were removed from five bridges.

Mid-East Tension Mounts

DAMASCUS, Syria (AP)—Iraq today mobilized its army and air force on standby alert and announced it was placing its armed forces under the command of the Syrian National Revolutionary Council following air and ground clashes between Syria and Israel.

Both Damascus and Baghdad radios cancelled regular programs and whipped Syria and Iraq into a state of excitement by broadcasting martial music, patriotic songs, telegrams of support and threats against Israel in the wake of Tuesday's battles.

Baghdad radio declared Iraq's National Revolutionary Council was "prepared to support Syria immediately with all military means and moral resources."

A statement by the council said the entire armed forces were on a state of alert and were being placed under command of the Syrian high command in Damascus.

The moves came less than 24 hours after Syria announced an armed clash with 15 Israeli armored cars on the 70-mile armistice line and both Syria and Israel announced an air battle between Syrian MIG-17 fighter planes and Israeli Mirages.

SAY PLANES DOWNED

Each country claimed its fighters shot down one of the other's planes. Each accused the other of violating its air space. A Syrian air force spokesman admitted a Syrian MIG was hit but said the plane made it back to its base.

Israel filed a complaint against Syria with the UN Security Council. The council was expected to meet in New York Friday or early next week.

Syria instructed its UN delegation to file counter-charges.

As tension gripped Syria, Arab political quarrelling was forgotten. The United Arab Republic pledged its support to Syria against Israeli aggression. Jordan and Saudi Arabia, despite propaganda directed against them by Syria, said they stood by Syria in the emergency.

BENNETT:

BCE Price 'The Only Question'

The B.C. Electric case is now "only a question of price," Premier Bennett declared today.

And he intimated that the B.C. government may be prepared to go higher than the $192,000,000 evaluation set by Supreme Court Judge Sherwood Lett.

Mr. Bennett predicted at a press conference that once the compensation price for the takeover of B.C. Electric is settled the legal hassle over ownership will be dropped.

'INTERESTING'

He said that negotiations between the government and B.C. Power Corporation, the original owners, now are at "a very interesting stage", but declined to predict when settlement will be reached.

The premier added that if necessary he will call a special session of the legislature before the regular date next January to clear the way for speedy settlement.

The legislature would have to approve the new price to be paid.

27 Arrested In Crackdown On 'Sweeps'

WASHINGTON RAPS STRONG-ARM ACTS

WASHINGTON (AP)—The United States sharply denounced today the South Viet Nam regime's strong-arm acts against Buddhists. However, high authorities said American help in the South Vietnamese war against Communist guerrillas would continue.

The Diem crackdown against Buddhist opposition brought in to focus a dilemma which has been growing on U.S. strategists.

On the one hand they dislike Diem's authoritarianism. On the other, they have seen no likely successor who could command wide support among the South Vietnamese people. In the meantime, their first priority has been and still is the fight against the Communists.

STATE OF SIEGE

Buddhist Monks Battle Troops

SAIGON (Reuters)—Monks and laymen fought troops who stormed Buddhist pagodas here and in Hue today as martial law was declared through South Viet Nam.

A curfew was clamped on this capital and soldiers and police were ordered to shoot curfew-breakers.

Saigon radio said there were casualties when troops chased monks out of the main Xa Loi pagoda here.

(Informal diplomatic sources in Singapore said there were some deaths at the pagoda, but there was no official confirmation. The sources said 12 truckloads of monks were taken from the pagoda by the army and ambulances were sent carrying the wounded to hospitals.)

In Hue, a major city 400 miles north of here where the Buddhist struggle for religious rights first flared, Saigon radio said Buddhists attacked security forces with sticks and stones wounding nine men, five of them seriously.

MONTREAL (CP)—Police said today they have arrested 27 persons, including a woman and an 85-year-old man, in a series of raids on suspected distributors of sweepstakes tickets.

They said the raids, begun in secret Monday morning and completed at noon today, also turned up a list containing names and addresses of distributors all over North America.

Police also reported seizure of an estimated 100,000 sweepstakes tickets and ticket stubs. They said the market value of the sold and unsold tickets is about $250,000.

HEARING SET

One of the 27 persons arrested, Philip Turpin of suburban town of Mount Royal, was charged with operating an illegal lottery and preliminary hearing was set for Aug. 29.

Police said 16 others have been charged with illegal possession of sweepstakes tickets and the remaining 10, including the elderly man and the woman, are to be arraigned on the same charge. Of the 16 already charged, 12 had pleaded guilty and were remanded one week for sentence.

They said more than $2,000 in cash and 10,000 Irish and Army and Navy sweepstakes tickets were seized in the raids, carried out in several Montreal Island municipalities.

JET-LIKE NIGHTSTICK FOR BRITISH BOBBIES?

LONDON (AP)—The Home Office and Scotland Yard, which restrict the use of pistols by policemen, are showing interest in a jet-like nightstick that can stun and tear-gas a robber, its inventor says.

The inventor is Col. Latham Valentine Stewart Blacker, 76, who was paid £32,000 ($96,000) for inventing the Piat anti-tank gun used in the Second World War.

Blacker said the flying nightstick, about two feet long, is accurate up to 300 feet.

"It will knock a bandit over and stun him but it won't kill him," Blacker said. "If the stick misses, the thick stream of tear gas it carries will hinder his getaway."

And it costs less than £1 to produce, he said.

The club looks like a large dart.

It has a rubber head containing tear gas and a small, round flight stabilizer on its tail. It's housed in a regular-sized nightstick.

Blacker said the Home Office, which supervises Scotland Yard, is showing an interest.

ROUND-A-BOUT

By DOUGLAS HILLSIDE

Mrs. Rejane M. Normandin of Montreal felt "proud to be a Canadian" after visiting Victoria and British Columbia, and wrote to the B.C. Travel Bureau about it.

Victoria she describes as "the pearl of the province, with gardens overflowing with flowers, its interesting Parliament Buildings, its museum, the Empress Hotel surrounded by thousands of roses, Beacon Hill Park, so restful and romantic."

She added: "The Butchart Gardens are simply fantastic—we spent five hours going around them and I could not decide to leave the place... I was speechless, and my husband, who has travelled in Europe, said he never saw anything so marvelous."

"Shopping in Victoria is pleasant. What makes the city so different from many others is that people are not in a rush. Who wants to rush when there is so much fine scenery all around?"

"You are lucky people to live in such a dream city..."

Gambling friend of mine tells me the entrance and lobby of new Jubilee Hospital wing reminds him of the Flamingo Hotel in Las Vegas. Except the treatment inside is different.

A West Coast fisherman phoned us on reading the protest against Victoria's high-rise apartments by Hollywood designer Edward G. Boyle.

"You wouldn't believe what a joy it is to see those ugly brutes when you're coming in-out of a fog," said the fisherman.

"Why, early this morning when I spotted that eyesore on Douglas Street, I felt like cheering. You see, those high-rises are so tall you can't miss them."

Well, Mr. Boyle, I guess one man's meat is another man's poison and everything has its uses. Just the same, many readers agree with you that high-rises and other functional-type buildings should be camouflaged outside to conform with Victoria's "quaint, old-world atmosphere."

Mr. Boyle said he liked the new Montreal Trust Building and its Mexican murals on Fort Street, but did not think it belonged in Victoria.

"Victoria's natural atmosphere is English, not Mexican," he said firmly.

"I like that piece they call Sacred Ants," a six-year-old girl told her mother recently.

"Sacred Ants?" echoed mother, who sings in the Fairfield United Church choir. "Where on earth did you hear that?"

Gentle cross-examination revealed that what the little girl really liked was the famous Sabre Dance.

Sgt. John Stinson, head of the RCMP-D (Doukhobor) squad, refused their request and they returned to where their brethren waited amidst a pile of duffle bags, suitcases and shopping bags.

The word then went out to erect the tents. Trees were chopped down and water hauled from nearby farms.

In proclaiming martial law, the president said "each and all are giving the best of themselves to fight Communist aggression."

But some who are indulging in "political speculation" by exploiting religion are only helping communism.

He said he declared a state of siege "so that the state may be protected, communism defeated, freedom secured and democracy achieved."

Four Buddhist monks and a nun have martyred themselves for their cause by burning themselves to death.

As troops in camouflage uniforms and steel-helmeted riot police took over the post office and other key points and official South Viet Nam press agency said the president signed Tuesday a decree declaring a state of siege throughout the country. This would continue until further notice, it added.

He said that his government had always regarded the imposition of tolls as "temporary." "We intended to get them off as quickly as we could," he said.

'300 MILLION WOULD DIE IN ONE HOUR'

WASHINGTON (CP) — The United States has a nuclear stockpile capable of killing 300,000,000 people in one hour, President Kennedy says.

He reiterated the point at his press conference Tuesday when asked to comment on the arguments of physicist Dr. Edward Teller that more atmospheric tests are necessary to ensure U.S. defence capabilities.

Kennedy said that "a good many other scientists with comparable experience" thought that the recent partial test ban treaty was a "source of strength" for the U.S. of strength" for the U.S.

"How many weapons do you need and how many megatons do you need to destroy," he asked.

He noted that he had said earlier that "what we now have on hand without further testing will kill 300,000,000 people in one hour... And I suppose they (the scientists) can even improve on that if it's necessary."

Defence Expert Backs Limited Test Treaty

WASHINGTON (AP) — The U.S. defence department's top scientist testified today that the Russians could not gain any substantial advantage under the limited nuclear test-ban treaty even if they "cheat to the maximum extent possible."

Dr. Harold Brown, defence director of research and engineering, added that if the treaty is fully observed U.S. nuclear superiority will improve.

Brown thus took issue with the views expressed Tuesday by Dr. Edward Teller, U.S. Air Force nuclear consultant, who said ratification of the treaty would be "a dreadful and tragic mistake."

Brown told senators considering the treaty:

"Having satisfied myself as completely as is humanly possible that the proposed treaty cannot substantially impair our strategic superiority if we take the steps which we can to continue our nuclear development and remain prepared, and that indeed it could enhance our strategic superiority compared with unlimited testing, I find the arguments for it on broader grounds persuasive and I fully support its ratification."

DIFFERS WITH TELLER

Brown differed with Teller's estimate that the Soviet Union is ahead of the United States in the development of an anti-missile defence.

He testified that from long investigations he had made with associates the "best, present judgment is that our ABM (Anti-Ballistic Missile) development efforts are comparable in magnitude and success with those of the Soviets."

He added that any deployed defence system the Russians are likely to have now or in the near future "does not appear to be as effective, almost certainly not more effective than the Nike-Zeus" which the U.S. decided not to deploy because "its effectiveness was inadequate against U.S. penetration aids." And he said penetration aids now under development "will be effective against much more sophisticated systems."

'Desperate Dangers'

PRETORIA, South Africa (Reuters) — Sir De Villiers Graaff, leader of the opposition United party, said today South Africa is on the brink of "desperate dangers" and perhaps disaster.

Opening the annual Transvaal United party congress here, he said the government's policy of apartheid (racial separation) is "not solving anything—it is merely feeding the flames of African nationalism."

Dentist Suspended

VANCOUVER (CP) — Dr. G. I. M. Robb has been suspended from practising dentistry for four months after being found guilty of unprofessional conduct by the College of Dental Surgeons of B.C. He was accused of co-operating with a dental technician in violation of the college's code of ethics.

China 'Too Poor' to Build A-Bombs

MOSCOW (AP)—The Kremlin said today Russia did not give Peking information on how to make nuclear bombs because Communist China is too weak economically to produce them in quantity.

The Soviet statement added that the Chinese Communists should rely on the Soviet Union's ever-ready and growing nuclear arsenal to defend Communist countries.

The statement, published in the Communist party newspaper Pravda, replied to China's accusation Aug. 15 that the Russians broke an agreement to pass on nuclear information in 1959 before Premier Khrushchev went to the United States to visit President Eisenhower.

The Kremlin statement rebuked the Chinese "for making public classified documents and information of allies."

Then the statement went on: "One must admit that being at a definite stage of its economic development, possessing a definite economic potential, the People's Republic of China is yet unprepared to produce nuclear arms in quantity."

"Even if the People's Republic of China were to produce two or three bombs, this would not solve the question for her, but would bring about a great exhaustion of the economy of the People's Republic of China."

The statement argued that the limited nuclear test ban treaty would help stop the spread of weapons to such countries as West Germany. It said West German possession of such weapons would greatly increase the danger of a world war.

"The position of the People's Republic of China government can be understood only in the sense that the Chinese leaders do not care how the nuclear weapons spread among the capitalist countries as long as the People's Republic of China leaders get a chance to lay their hands on a nuclear bomb and see what it is like," the statement said.

Nowhere did the statement deny there had been an agreement to give the Chinese Communists the bomb secrets. Nor was there any allusion to the Chinese charge that Khrushchev broke the agreement to please Eisenhower.

$90,000 Loot Found by Yard In Car Trailer

(Times News Services)

LONDON—Police announced today the discovery of another £30,000 ($90,000) of the great train robbery loot hidden in an abandoned auto trailer.

An intensified search began for the man and woman with a small baby who left the trailer, parked last week on a site near Dorking, Surrey. The site was not far from a spot in neighboring Woodlands where another £109,000 ($327,000) of robbery cash was found abandoned a few days earlier.

The trailer cash consisted of 6,000 £5 bank notes. It brought to £273,107 ($819,321) the total so far recovered of the £2,600,000 ($7,800,000) taken by the robber gang.

Meanwhile, two underworld characters known as Rubber-face Mary and Peter the Pug went to the top of Scotland Yard's wanted list in the nationwide search for members of the gang.

BOUGHT CAR

Police believe that Rubber-face Mary, a confidence trickster skilled in disguise, helped provide the woman's touch in the lonely farmhouse that the gang used as headquarters. Using the name Mary Manson, she paid out some of the stolen cash to buy a sports car the day after the robbery. With her was Peter the Pug, a squash-nosed ex-boxer with a record of violence.

The Daily Mirror also reported that police were searching for a woman expert at disguise. The newspaper said she was attractive and between 30 and 40.

It added that inquiries revealed that the women visited bars frequented by railwaymen and ferreted out details of the working of the signals on the section of line on which the mail train was ambushed in Buckinghamshire some 45 miles northwest of London.

The Daily Herald reported in a front-page story today that an underworld informer had given Scotland Yard the full story of the robbery and named 31 persons, including the leaders, who were involved in it. The story, not officially confirmed by police sources, said arrests based on the information were expected within 48 hours.

New Formula For Columbia

Times Ottawa Bureau

OTTAWA—Negotiations for modifications in the Canada-U.S. Columbia River treaty are nearing completion, External Affairs Minister Paul Martin indicated today.

The next round of discussions on the proposed changes, he announced, will be held in Ottawa next week.

Mr. Martin also announced that Sept. 6 has been set as the date for opening of discussions with U.S. authorities on the price Canada is to get for sale of Canadian downstream power benefits in the U.S.

He said this meeting would be held somewhere in the United States, possibly in Washington, D.C., or in the U.S. Pacific Northwest where the "power utilities" which would use the downstream power are situated.

MACARTHUR ... no sense of neglect

REDS REJECT W. GERMAN DECLARATION

MOSCOW (Reuters)—The Soviet Union refused today to accept the text of West Germany's declaration of accession to the nuclear test-ban pact, because it noted that signing the treaty does not mean West German recognition of any other signatory country—such as East Germany.

Russia recognizes the Communist East German regime, which has also acceded to the treaty. West Germany is anxious that the accession should not lead to greater international recognition of the East German regime.

MACARTHUR'S MEMOIRS

'I Had No Part In A-Bomb Drop'

NEW YORK (AP)—Gen. Douglas MacArthur, disclosing he has written his memoirs, said Tuesday he was in formed of the existence of the atom bomb only 10 days before it fell on Hiroshima.

The allied supreme commander in the Pacific in the Second World War said he had no part "in any way, shape or manner" in the decision to drop the bomb. He did not indicate whether he approved use of the weapon.

MacArthur, 83, reminisced about the Far East in one of his rare press conferences. He told of writing the 200,000-word manuscript in longhand during the last six months to "fill the gap insofar as my own part was concerned." He declined any comment on current affairs.

Henry R. Luce, editor-in-chief of Life and other Time, Inc., publications, said Life had purchased all rights, including motion picture and television. The price was not disclosed.

The magazine will publish the memoirs in installments, starting early next year. Mc Graw Hill and Company will publish the manuscript in book form at about the same time.

The five-star general now is board chairman of Sperry Rand Corporation.

Concerning the atomic bomb, dropped in 1945 on orders of former President Truman, MacArthur was asked how he felt about not being notified of the bombing.

"I felt no sense of neglect at all," he replied. "The whole project was a secret project and there was absolutely no reason to consult a theatre commander 10,000 miles away on such matters."

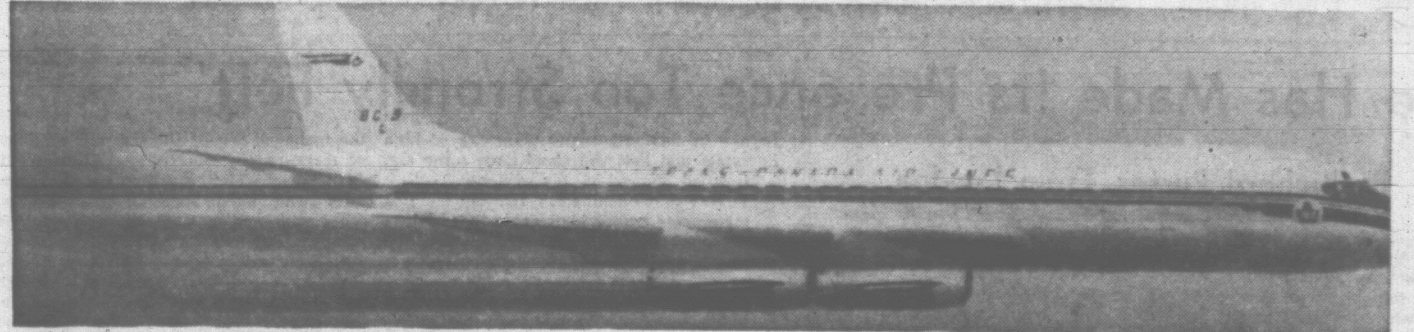

To a question, whether, in view of his Asiatic experience, he might have been able to give some advice on the probable psychological impact of the bombing, MacArthur said: "The use of the bomb was a matter that was decided by superior authority to my own without consultation to me..."

MacArthur said the book would deal in part with his ouster as commander of the free-world forces in Korea in 1951 by Truman.

Traffic Toll Mounts

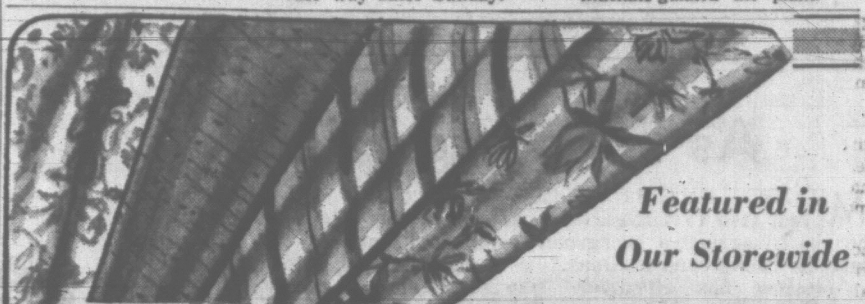

OTTAWA (UPI)—Traffic accidents claimed 1,583 lives in Canada during the first half of this year, up 16.8 per cent from a year ago, the bureau of statistics reported today. Another 36,036 persons were injured in motor mishaps during the January-June period, compared with 31,429 a year earlier.

HAVANA (AP)—Tanks, anti-aircraft guns and troops are deploying along Cuba's sparsely defended north coast to guard against stepped-up hit-and-run attacks by anti-Castro raiders.

Fidel Castro's government said Tuesday it is acting to assure Cuba's defence. But it made no direct mention of the troop and weapon movement. Travellers said it has been under way since Sunday.

The government charged that Monday's attack by two small boats on a metal plant in western Cuba proved the existence of a new plan of aggression against Cuba. It was the third raid on industrial installations in four days.

A Cuban exile group, Mambises commandos, said in Guatemala City its boats shelled and machine-gunned the plant.

As Friend to Friend

MR. KHRUSHCHEV'S current visit to Yugoslavia must be viewed against a background—and the background is China.

Moscow has effectively controlled its chain of European satellites — Poland, East Germany, Czechoslovakia, Hungary, Romania, Bulgaria—but it has never achieved more than temporary acquiescence from Yugoslavia. Marshal Tito successfully challenged Stalin and his successor. He became the target of a tremendous Russian verbal onslaught, but he went his way.

His comparatively relaxed variety of Communism, his relations with the West, his occasional plunges into non-orthodox Communist dogma—these could not be altered by Moscow without force and Moscow did not dare use it.

But Tito and his country, once expunged even from Russian schoolbooks, are in favor today. Mr. Khrushchev visits Belgrade, as he has on previous occasions, as a friend—in fact, a friend in need.

Today the Communist world is split between Russia and China; between the interpretation of Lenin which says co-existence and industrial rivalry are the proper policies for Communist advancement, and that which says military force opens the only road to the Communist future. Mr. Khrushchev and Marshal Tito have come to have much in common in their foreign policies, and the similarity has extended to certain aspects of their domestic viewpoint since the Kremlin began to turn from Stalin's terror to more individual freedom and consumer goods.

But faced by a resentful and determined China which seeks the leadership of the Communist world, Mr. Khrushchev will want more than similarities with Yugoslavia; he will want a firm and public commitment to his cause by Marshal Tito. This would serve the multiple purpose of anchoring the southern extremity of his eastern European system, further isolating China's ally Albania, and giving solid encouragement to Communist parties still wavering between Russian power and China's increasing hegemony in Asia.

Mr. Khrushchev should, on the whole, find attentive listeners in Belgrade. Marshal Tito is an astute bargainer but like his visitor, a realist. And the shadow of Peking which disturbs Mr. Khrushchev extends also to the Adriatic.

Mr. Pearson and French Canada

FEW PEOPLE ARE IN A BETTER position than Prime Minister Pearson to indicate what Canada would lose if Quebec separatism succeeded in splitting the ancient province from the nation.

Fewer still are in a better position to tell Quebec what it would lose.

In his talk the other evening to the French-Language Weekly Newspapers Association of Canada, Mr. Pearson made his points clearly.

Where it hived off from the rest of Canada, Quebec would be without the familiar support of the other nine provinces, would be more completely exposed by geography and economics to the influence of the benevolent giant to the south and might reasonably expect to be engorged ultimately in the same way that material is surrounded and assimilated by an amoeba.

By separation, the rest of Canada would be gravely wounded in its tradition, in its business, industrial and commercial life and in a shared heritage. Its fate, like that of Quebec, would be only a question of time.

The Prime Minister has underscored the necessity for Canadians of British origin to inform themselves on the aspirations, hopes, strengths and character of their brother Canadians who live in Quebec and consider French their language. At the same time he has left an implicit question with Canadians of French origin. If they fear difficulty in preserving their distinctive character, culture and right to the good things of a nation in which they are a minority, how would they fare on their own against the inevitable pressures of another nation 10 times as large as Canada?

Wages of Debt

MR. H. B. SHANNON, ONTARIO secretary of the RCAF Benevolent Fund, has given to Canadians a grim paraphrase of Micawber's advice.

He has focussed attention on the tragedies which occur through the widespread practice of going too deeply into debt. By his estimate that debt runs to approximately $236 per capita, or between $4,500,000,000 and $6,000,000,000 for the total population.

From it, he says, emerges wrecked homes, an inclination to alcoholism in certain instances and in others a presumed association with suicide or death from nervous strain.

Mr. Shannon proposes some remedies. He suggests legislation to prohibit blanket mortgages on household goods being used as security for loans, restriction on seizure of security and limits on the extent to which wages can be garnished.

He endorses the familiar argument that full interest charges should be disclosed, so that the person incurring the debt clearly understands what he is getting into.

These are all matters which deserve study. But more important than all, the great need in Canada seems to be much more self-analysis by Canadians. They should understand—and too many of them do not—that merely wanting a thing is not a sufficient reason in itself to insist on having it. The cost must be understood as well as the desire to possess.

The full extent of the cost has been cited by the benevolent fund secretary—cases of destroyed homes, escapism in alcohol and occasionally death by suicide or from anxiety.

For the Glory of Sport

THE NATIVE SONS OF BRITISH Columbia, Victoria Post, have brought honor to themselves by according it to Mr. Douglas Fletcher, the man they chose as Victoria's Good Citizen for 1963.

Here is an expression of appreciation—in which the community can wholeheartedly join—for a person who has devoted time, energy, enthusiasm and ability to the development of good clean sport, particularly for the young, and has sustained his interest and his efforts in this work for almost half a century.

Doug Fletcher has served for the love of sport and for the benefit of the young. He is an excellent choice for the laurel which the Native Sons have established as a unique symbol in Greater Victoria.

'A Feeling That the State Has Made Its Presence Too Strongly Felt'

AT THE close of the last article attention was drawn to Prime Minister Macmillan's unusual equivocation (on July 30) regarding publication of the Denning report into the Profumo affair. He hinted that some parts of the report may be restricted on grounds other than security. Under pressure from the Labor leader and a Liberal spokesman, he refused to clarify his position.

It has since been freely assumed by press and opposition that if the Denning report contains anything unappealing to the government, whether affecting security or not, the prime minister will try to squelch it.

Lord Denning, an eminent and respected British jurist, was appointed by the prime minister to make a one-man quasi-judicial inquiry into the security aspects of the Profumo case. The move was made to appease Conservative as well as Labor opinion during the June Profumo debate. Labor complained of the lack of full tribunal powers of subpoena and privilege in the Denning inquiry, and on the narrow terms of reference, but got nowhere.

It has since become apparent, however, that Lord Denning is no government lackey. He has interpreted his terms of reference liberally, and has in fact interviewed just about everyone connected with the rumors and allegations not only in the Profumo case but in the Ward case and its offshoots. He is assessing the whole panoply of salacious rumor that has disfigured the last few months here.

The prime minister, it appears, wants to see that unsupported allegations from scruffy witnesses are not publicly published. The truth, yes, but slander, no.

While the yellow press and some Labor MPs would rejoice in parroting any allegations paraded before Lord Denning, it is likely that the leader of the opposition will agree not to seek political gain from the unproven allegations of tarts and pimps against cabinet ministers. But it remains to be seen whether the Denning report will be another whitewash of the government like Lord Radcliffe's Vassall case report.

That still touchy matter aside, it remains to look into the conduct of the Ward case itself. Public opinion is extremely widespread that Dr. Ward was a "fall guy," a nonentity against whom it happened that some sort of case could be made just when the government needed someone to pillory. Dr. Ward was arrested just after Mr. John Profumo resigned from Parliament and government, when the sensation was at its height.

Dr. Ward was finally convicted on charges of living partly on the earnings of prostitution by Christine Keeler and Marilyn Rice-Davies. The conviction in effect declared Miss Keeler and Miss Rice-Davies to be prostitutes, although neither had ever been convicted of this offence.

Mr. Justice Marshall, summing up the evidence, said that by precedent "if a man knowingly assists a prostitute with the direct object of enabling her to carry on her trade and knowingly lives wholly or in part on the earnings of prostitutes which he assists," he is guilty. He must be paid by the prostitutes for goods and services—including opportunities for conducting prostitution—which he would not supply to them if they were not prostitutes. A prostitute for purposes of the law was a woman who indiscriminately offered her body to men for reward.

The jury must consider whether Miss Keeler and Miss Rice-Davies were prostitutes, whether Dr. Ward knew it, and whether he received payment for the introductions and facilities he provided.

The jury pointed out that there were no defence witnesses other than Dr. Ward himself to testify against either Miss Keeler or Miss Rice-Davies. Dr. Ward's friends, who could have testified for him, "abandoned him in his extremity." The jury must not guess at the reasons for this, but if Dr. Ward was not lying "there are in this city many witnesses of high estate and low who could have come and testified support of his evidence."

It was evident from Dr. Ward's last statements before his suicide that he was despondent at the sudden departure of the high-placed friends by whom he had set such store, and felt that the judge's summing-up had made his cause hopeless. (It has been frequently said here that judges go too far in summing-up.)

Many in legal and political circles here were surprised at the verdict. It was a case of testimony of two sensation-seekers against the accused. Even though, by a peculiarity of British law, a person accused of living on immoral earnings is considered guilty unless proven innocent, it is widely felt that the evidence against Dr. Ward was thin. (The judge had advised the jury to seek full corroboration of witnesses' evidence despite the law's archaic provision, since the prosecution had taken the approach that it would seek to prove all charges.)

It is doubted that Miss Keeler or Miss Rice-Davies could be called prostitutes in

EXPLOSION

South Africa—When, Not If

By HAZEL GROVES

AS FAR as we can gather most of our ancestors came out to South Africa with the 1820 settlers. A few came during the diamond rush later in the century and one came during the Boer War. It doesn't matter much when they came except to show that my husband and I are born and bred South Africans. Little did we know when we returned home to Johannesburg after two years in England what far reaching consequences that stay was to have on our lives.

We moved back into our spacious homestead and could hardly wait to get our servants back into the gist of how and when we liked our meals and what the baby's timetable would be, before visiting our many good friends. As always with South Africans, after the pleasantries had been exchanged the subject would revert to politics.

"Well," said someone "as you can see for yourself, things aren't as bad as the rest of the world make them out to be. I can't say I have felt the pinch of the trade boycotts, nor for that matter has anyone else I know. Of course everyone in his right senses has a lot of complaints about the Nationalist Government, but when it comes to the native policy they know what they are doing. When the natives rise," he concluded, "they won't catch us unprepared."

The apparent ease with which general opinion had moved during our absence from the stage of thinking of violence with a detached "if it happens" to a decided "When it happens" was our first warning that we were no longer in touch, no longer looking at things from the inside.

Cells for Servants

Having lived in appalling accommodation for a while in England I was acutely aware of the two poky little cells (6 ft. by 9 ft.) in the corner of the garden where our natives were housed. I could no longer enjoy the spicy chats with neighbors about how ungrateful the servants were for what we did for them and I developed a fierce aversion to the swapping of bad luck stories about black cheek and insolence, petty thefts or the cook walking out just when weekend visitors were due.

Then there was the matter of broadcasting. Had the SABC become more politically biased or did it only seem so after listening to the BBC? No, on inquiry, we learned that a red-hot Nationalist had replaced Gideon Roos, the former director. We started morbidly listening for the third item of news each day which was invariably pro-Government propaganda. We were informed that the rest of the world had distorted the word "Apartheid" so that it no longer sounded honorable, and was to be officially replaced by "Separate Development."

We had strong assurances that everyone had resettling problems after sojourns overseas and we should soon fall into the old way of thinking. Far from being reassured though, we looked upon this as a grim warning.

Hopeless Gesture

In an effort to do something positive we joined the Progressive Party (with its solitary parliamentary representative) and tried to persuade anyone who would listen to think of the long-term future of South Africa before irrevocably committing themselves to a police state and violence. It was no more than a hopeless gesture. We did not change any views.

Eventually we had to face the two most serious implications of living in South Africa. It was inevitable that one day we would have to fight in self-defence against the natives rising in retribution for a policy of suppression we did not support. As there were no standards of truth, freedom, or justice, what ideals were we to help our children to cherish as they grew up?

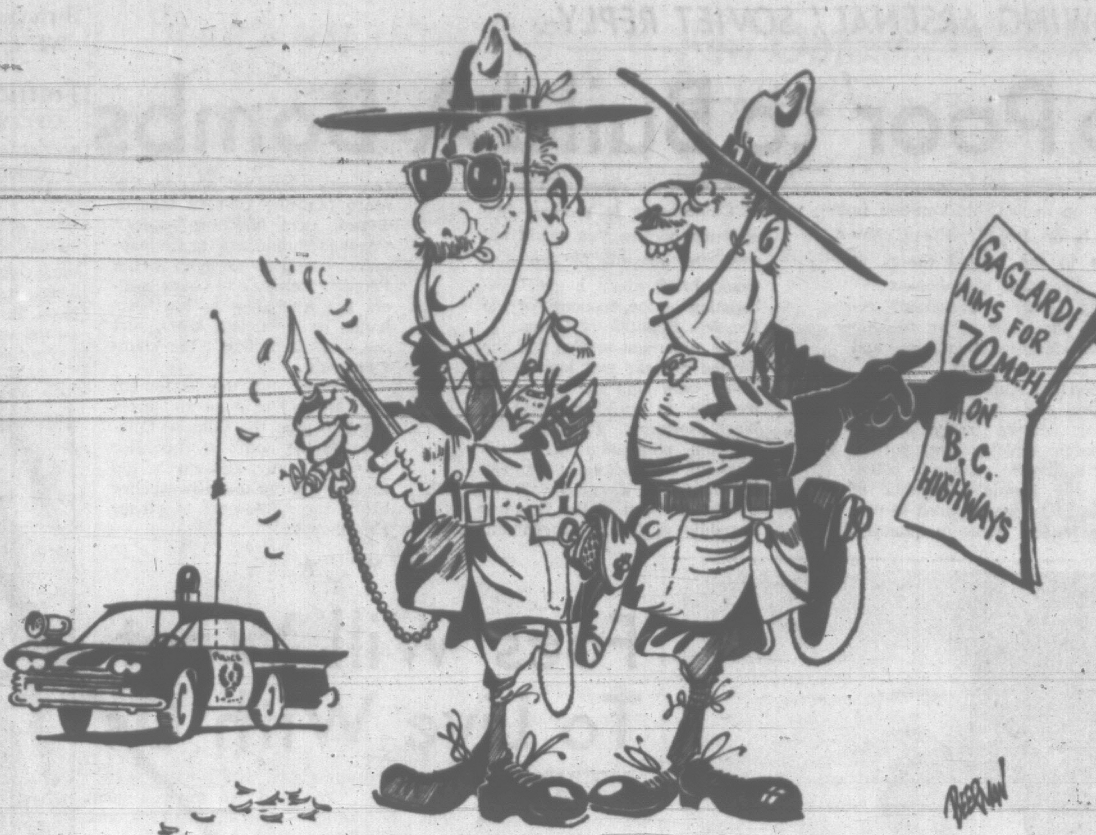

We wondered whether we should emigrate or stay and help the few in their struggle against apartheid. We decided to emigrate because it seemed to us that these valiant people cannot really achieve anything.

Slav Fence-Mending in Belgrade

By JOHN RUTHERFORD

PRESIDENT TITO is host this week to Mr. Khrushchev on the president's Brioni Island retreat in the North Adriatic. The program no doubt will follow the familiar pattern which Tito delights to offer guests: a tour of the island in an open landau to view the white deer and other animals, a fast whirl in his motorboat to the mile-distant Vanga rock where Tito busies himself fixing barbecue steaks. Then down to business.

Mr. Khrushchev already knows the form. He was there in 1955—with Marshal Bulganin—when he paid his first call on Tito to end the feud Stalin had waged against the Yugoslavs for five years. Little more than a year later—and not long after Tito's disturbingly triumphant tour of the USSR—he was there again, this time with a chill on the relationship because, after the Poznan warning of the shape of things to come later that autumn in Hungary, Moscow found Tito's independent ideas too exciting among the satellites.

Stalking Mutual

On that occasion they haggled for more than a week on Brioni and then Tito surprised everyone by flying off with Khrushchev to continue the talks in the Crimea. A "hunting holiday" was the description applied to both trips. But the stalking was mutual and mainly concerned with disagreements over how best to handle rising unrest in Eastern Europe.

President Tito's warnings were justified by subsequent events but they came too late, and Mr. Khrushchev, at that stage anyway, was too diffident to be convinced.

Aerimony, however, was patched up and stayed so until the irrepressible Yugoslavs produced the new party program, in 1958, which to Moscow was even more disturbing heresy and caused it to react by "postponing for five years" credits worth some £100 million promised Belgrade in the glowing days of 1955-56.

As late as November 1960 the Yugoslavs were still being condemned, this time in the 81-party declaration from Moscow. But, within the year, a sinister new factor intruded into the picture—the hardening conflict between the Russians and the Chinese.

Pressure on the Yugoslavs was eased, more and more, until finally it was lifted altogether as Mr. Khrushchev began to appreciate the importance of Yugoslav support in the tussle with Peking, and of cashing in on Yugoslav prestige among the Afro-Asians as an offset to attractions which Chinese blandishment might otherwise have in these quarters.

Peking's claim to supersede Moscow as the shrine of true Marxist-Leninist leadership left Mr. Khrushchev little alternative but to look to Tito for support. It involved a recognition going further than the 1955 agreement conceding the Yugoslavs' idea of "differing roads to socialism," which the Russians had quickly thereafter nipped in the bud anyway.

In two years the new rapprochement has entailed innumerable Yugoslav and bloc contacts at all levels. It has produced, for example, a Yugoslav-Rumanian agreement to get started soon with the £115 million Danubian power project at the "Iron Gates." It has led to party contacts—the first since 1948—including flattering recognition of the Yugoslavs at the East German party congress last January and Tito's visit as party leader to Moscow the month before.

Menace Looms

The Chinese "menace" already loomed large. It looms even larger today—after last month's abortive Moscow talks with the Chinese—as Mr. Khrushchev re-visits Yugoslavia for the first time since that fateful autumn of 1956.

The occasions have their differences but also their parallels. In 1956 Mr. Khrushchev's aim was to persuade President Tito to be a little less independent, to get somewhere ideologically back into line with the bloc. The fact that he made so tough an effort was a mark of the influence the Yugoslav leader was wield-

DVA 'Tops'

Having recently returned home after spending almost a month in the Veterans' Hospital, Richmond Road, Victoria, I would like to pay tribute to that wonderfully well run organization.

Like all organizations, be they good, bad, or indifferent, they invariably reflect the efficiency or otherwise of the management.

My experience has been such that I want to thank the executive, the doctors, the nurses and staff for their efficiency, consideration, and kindness. May I also pay tribute to the culinary department? The fact that the food itself is the very best obtainable, does not necessarily mean that the cuisine (the style or quality of cooking) is the best obtainable, but in the case of the DVA hospital I have no hesitation in saying they are simply tops.

When You Like People

UP to last week I had met only one Trinidadian—Mike Agostini, the self-confident and stylish young track star who out-psyched and outran Australia's "Hurrying Hector" Hogan to win the British Empire Games' 100-yard sprint in Vancouver.

In the last few days I've met another young man from the island just 16 miles off the coast of Venezuela where South America thrusts its shoulder into the Caribbean Sea merging into the Atlantic.

All I know about Trinidad comes from the Encyclopedia Britannica, a few calypso songs and what my new young friend has told me.

What he told me is the most interesting of the information gleaned from my three sources. I wanted to know what his experiences, as a young man whose skin is darker than mine, had been in relation to any racial discrimination that might exist in British Columbia. I also wanted to know how multi-racial Trinidad behaved in respect to people of different ethnic origins.

His report was as encouraging as any I've heard. The young man is in his youthful twenties, is built like a sprinter, though he specializes in cricket for fun, not track, and he is studying medicine here, planning to practice later in his own country, or in islands of the West Indies.

Would he be returning because it would be easier for him to establish a practice there than in this part of the world, I asked?

"No, I don't think so," he replied. "I'd like to go back because it's my home—and they need doctors there."

Had he been shown any discourtesies or discrimination in his five years in British Columbia?

"No," he said, "that has never happened to me. I can't say that any incident occurred that has hurt me. If there has been anything at all, it has been a subtle sort of impression that I was taken as different by people who weren't accustomed to members of my race. I might be in a social gathering with some friends and other friends of theirs might come, familiar with the rest of the crowd and then, glancing my way, look twice."

If he had been or should be subjected to discourtesy by someone whose skin was different, how would he feel?

"I don't know. It has never happened. But I guess it would depend on the type of person who slighted me."

Isn't there any racism in Trinidad?

"Nothing to speak of, at least up to the time I left. There might have been some feeling between the East Indians and the Negroes—and I've heard that it has been exploited for political purposes in some areas in recent years. You see the different peoples mingle pretty well in Trinidad. They group themselves into different social strata more or less on the basis of common interests, common education standards, and probably on the basis of the jobs they hold."

"But when the premier is a Negro, the governor a gentleman of Chinese origin and the cabinet staffed in a number of senior posts by people of East Indian extraction, there isn't much reason for racial discrimination."

What about inter-marriage there?

"Well, it occurs, usually between couples with common educational standards, young people who have gone away to universities and who mingle in the same group when they return to Trinidad."

Would he consider marriage to a Canadian girl?

"I'd have to think about it a good deal. I'd have to be sure that she would be happy in Trinidad. But I don't have to think about it just yet."

Does he harbor any racial antipathies himself?

"I don't think so. I haven't any reason to. In school I had friends who were from different races and color didn't matter to us. Besides, I like people and there are all kinds of people in every race. Maybe, too, who are from Trinidad are, on the whole, a happy people with a well-developed sense of humor. That helps, too."

BUT TEACHER NEEDED

TV Instruction
Major Advance

VANCOUVER (CP) — Claude Galarneau, history and geography professor at Laval University in Quebec City, said Tuesday educational television amounts to a teaching revolution comparable to the invention of the printing press five centuries ago.

He was speaking to 600 delegates attending the annual meeting of L'Association Canadienne des Educateurs de Langue Francaise, representing all teachers in French-speaking Canada. They are seeking the best ways to use educational television in different branches of education.

Mr. Galarneau said educational television is "absolutely indispensable" in the teaching of history and geography. However, he said educational television will not eliminate the need for teachers. On the contrary, they would become more necessary.

Mr. Galarneau said the type of teacher needed would no longer be the person who reads textbooks or the teacher who presides over recitations of dates and names. Instead, a teacher will be required who is convinced of the importance of his subject and who knows the right methods to teach it.

PREDICTS REVOLUTION

Leon Lortie, secretary general of the University of Montreal, told the delegates television can and will revolutionize the teaching of natural sciences, history in particular. He said the teaching of history is so moribund in Quebec province that it will have to be brought back to life if it is to survive.

On the other hand, he said educational television would free the teacher and the student from "enslavement to the textbook" which now reduces the science to a series of formulas.

He said the technique will become so important that teachers' colleges for television teaching will soon be established.

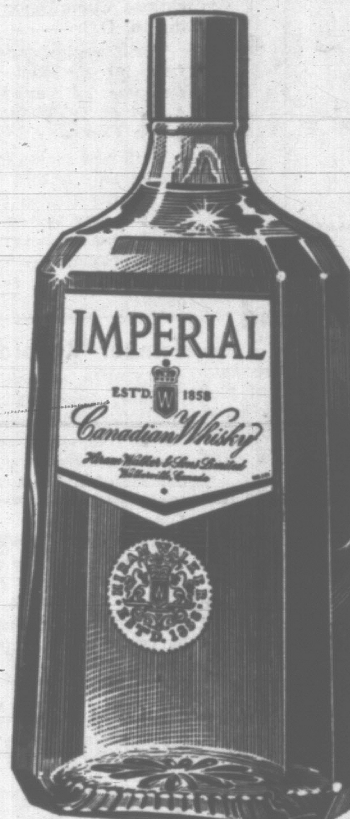

Claude Fremont, a Laval professor, said educational television must also be used to help science and mathematics teachers. He suggested the establishment of educational television centres in all major cities with the task of helping science professors in all ways possible.

Learning to Talk Again

I fear that often when a man has had a bad stroke, which has left him with little if any ability to talk, the family will feel greatly discouraged, and will get the idea that nothing can be done to improve matters.

Actually, if the patient is in a city large enough to have in some one of its institutions, a qualified speech therapist, perhaps employed by the school system or a local university, something can be done. Many a person with an aphasia (an inability to speak, which may be moderate or severe) has been helped to talk again. Such training should be started as soon as possible after the stroke.

Years ago, I coined a medical term to explain what is wrong with some thin or sparely-built dyspeptic people who throughout a long life have to be careful not to eat much of anything. For instance, my father, who at 84 weighed exactly what he weighed when he was 20, early found that if he wanted his abdomen to be comfortable, he must eat very little. The important factor was not so much what he ate as how much he ate. And here is an important point: when he died, an autopsy showed absolutely nothing wrong with his digestive tract, except that it was small.

Because the digestive tract is a chemical laboratory in which the foods eaten are broken down into small units which can then go through the wall of the small bowel into the blood, and eventually through the liver, heart and into our tissues, I got into the habit of saying to the 350-pound type of man—who says he can eat a whole big goose or a suckling pig at a meal—"you have a big laboratory." To the sparely-built dyspeptic man, who can never eat a full-sized meal, I say, "You have a small laboratory, and that may be all your trouble."

Interestingly, of late, brain physiologists have been studying another factor in the tendency of some animals and some men to eat little, and this is the phenomenon of satiety (feeling full). Some spare persons, after eating a little, even with a good deal of pleasure, will suddenly feel so full they can hardly bear to take another bite. Some fat people who weigh 300 or 400 pounds tell me that even a few minutes after they have eaten an enormous meal, they begin to suffer from their usual pangs, of almost unbearable hunger. They seem to be without a satiety factor.

It may well be that some day a little operation will be performed on a certain area in the brain, and then the 350-pound person may feel full after eating an apple. Let us hope that someday such an operation can be performed easily and with happy results.

HOME GARDEN

BY HILDA BEASTALL

Hail to the Spirit-Lifters

The forerunners of fall days vary no doubt according to one's interests.

For me they include fresh wild blackberry pie, catalogue and prize lists for fall flower shows and, any day after the middle of August, the colchicums.

This year—it was on the 17th—that two blossoms were suddenly above soil and expanded in the sunshine.

There will be dozens more, for despite one or two obvious disadvantages, these heralds of fall have charming personalities and where space is available in the garden we would not be without them.

Colchicums are the so-called

Meadow-saffrons, a genus of bulbous plants of the lily family. They look like crocuses but are not even remotely related.

The most commonly seen species is Colchicum autumnale, having rosy-lilac flowers. Other varieties are white, a deep wine-purple, a soft pink, and one spring-flowering kind seldom encountered is yellow.

An interesting point about these blossoms is the long flower tube which holds up the petals. One might call it a stem but the seed capsule is not visible, because it is safely below soil level, and not until the warm days of spring does it rise above ground for ripening.

Another point of interest is the leaves. These appear in spring and make rapid growth often reaching 15 inches in length and five inches across.

As with all bulbs, these leaves must be allowed to mature before being removed and as it is usually June before they show signs of withering the tidy gardener is likely to cut them off too soon. The result is fewer and smaller blossoms in August and September.

Colchicums are useful as a spirit-lifter just about now. They are true heralds of all the lovely plants which may be bloomed in our coastal gardens during the next three months. They are perfectly winter-hardy, and will add fall interest to rather difficult spots in the shade of trees where the soil may be rather shallow and dry.

Near the end of the garden season?

Not while we have colchicums to tell us the autumn story.

BUSINESS VIEWS

Lead, Zinc Price Boosts Expected

By GORDON BELL
Times Business Editor

Further incentive for the B.C. mining industry is seen in predictions of further price increases for lead and zinc, both of which have already registered one cent a pound gains in the past month.

Price boost speculation centres mainly on continuing heavy demand from the American auto industry which is confidently predicting the 1964 model year will see sales continuing at a high level.

Industry sources also do not believe that lead and zinc tariff legislation under consideration by congressional committees has much chance of passing.

Demand for higher tariffs is hard to back up at a time when the U.S. industry is producing at a near record rate and at high prices.

The legislation under study provides for cutting back on lead imports to 45,000 tons from the present 80,000 tons while the zinc quota would be set at 80,000 tons compared with 130,240 tons at present.

Also mentioned as a strong candidate for higher prices is silver.

A slight glimmer of further easing of the proposed American "interest equalization" tax was seen in testimony given by Treasury Secretary Dillon before the House ways and means committee.

Mr. Dillon agreed that it was possible a yardstick of 50 per cent U.S. control of a foreign company could be used when considering exemptions from the tax.

This would add in such securities as Aluminum Ltd., International Nickel and other predominantly American-owned companies to the exemption list. However, treasury officials emphasized following Mr. Dillon's statement, that the offer did not amount to a flat commitment to any particular formula for exemptions.

While Mr. Dillon apparently opened the door to some stock issues, he insisted that existing issues of foreign bonds and other debt securities must be subject to tax.

American Exchange Streamlining Soon
NEW YORK (UPI)—Plans to streamline the operation of the American Stock Exchange will go into effect Sept. 3, officials of the securities exchange said yesterday.

The program will include a market procedures division to handle ticker and quotation operations and related matters and an office procedures division to rule on admissions, arbitration, examination and approval of registered representatives and to administer regulations on margins, capital and commissions.

Graham Bell, 42, vice-president of Hayden, Stone & Co. and former governor of the exchange, was named vice-president of the market procedures division. H. Vernon Lee, Jr., 54, exchange secretary, was appointed head of the office procedures division.

CANADA'S BANK RATE has been increased to four per cent after dropping to 3½ per cent May 6. The rate fixed at six per cent June 24, 1962, as part of the government's austerity program was reduced to 5½ per cent Sept. 7, to five per cent Oct. 12 and to four per cent Nov. 13. The bank rate sets the interest for loans from the Bank of Canada to chartered banks and others. (CP Newsmag)

Separate Market Opening at Toronto

The Toronto Stock Exchange said today it will establish a separate market to provide facilities for the trading of Canadian stocks between American buyers and sellers.

The new market will be known as the foreign market and will provide a separate resume of trading volume and prices. All trades on the new market will be designated on the ticker tape by the letter "Z". For example, a sale in the market of International Nickel will be designated "Z. IK."

On the Toronto market today the hearings for the proposed U.S. equalization tax apparently kept investors in the air and prices slipped almost two points in moderate trading.

At Montreal also there was a sharp setback as the composite index fell 0.5 to 120.3.

AT TORONTO the industrial index slipped 1.81 at 2 p.m. Main industrial losses were Canada Cement, down one point to 33, Distillers Sagram off ½, CPR ½ and B.C. Forest, Dominion Foundries and Steel and Traders' Finance A ¼ each.

Industrial gainers included Canada Packers B up one point to 62, Ontario Steel ½ to 20½ and Canada Steamship Lines, Consolidated Mining and Smelting and MacMillan, Bloedel ¼ each.

AT MONTREAL trading was light in industrials, but fairly active in mines.

Consolidated Mining, Asbestos, Home Oil B and B.A. Oil all dropped ¼ and Canadian Breweries fell ½.

A few gainers included Page-Hersey and Foundation, up ¼ each and Atlas Telefilm, higher by five cents.

South Dufault was heavily traded in the mining field, adding four cents to 21. Tallisman gained one cent and Ajax dropped ¼ a cent.

NEW YORK—Selected issues were in demand late afternoon as the stock market recovered from a sharp decline.

It is reasonable to expect, he said, that by 1970 or 1971 Canada's population will increase 25 per cent to more than 22,500,000 and the labor force 26 per cent to 8,200,000 persons.

Gross national product should reach $37,000,000—up 40 per cent and personal disposable income should be nearly $40,000,000—up 41 per cent.

"For the Canadian automotive industry all of this clearly predicts an increase in the number of vehicles in operation, a growing market and increased sales and production."

"In this same period of time, the industry believes that the market for new passenger cars will reach 650,000 annually and the market for new trucks in excess of 100,000 annually. This compares with 504,000 passenger cars and about 82,000 trucks sold in Canada last year."

Mr. Walker said there has been an "unfortunate" tendency to pass over the importance of the industry's automotive competitive position in much that has been said and written recently about the automotive portion of Canada's imbalance of trade with the United States.

Cutting prices hasn't stopped the tide of some imports, especially wire products, pipe and tubing, reinforcing bars and some types of sheet and strip.

American steelmen say some foreign producers are "dumping" steel on the U.S. market, selling it at prices lower than charged in the country of origin.

Tuesday, Roger Blough, chairman of the Board of U.S. Steel Corporation, the No. 1 producer, and David J. McDonald, president of the AFL-CIO United Steelworkers Union, asked President Kennedy to do something about the dumping.

After the White House meeting, Blough told reporters Kennedy had agreed to look into the matter.

Blough said he considers a heavy percentage of the 4,300,000 tons of foreign steel sold in the United States last year to have been dumped on the market.

"No American steel workers should be confronted with the prospect of unemployment because of unfair trade practices by foreign producers," said McDonald.

New Service Started

MONTREAL (CP)—Telephone Exchange Service (TWX) started Tuesday between Canada and the United States.

Approval for the service was given by the board of transport commissioners for Canada and the Federal Communications Commission in Washington, D.C.

Tariff applications had been filed by the Bell Telephone Company of Canada and the American Telephone and Telegraph Company.

Until now messages could be placed only within Canada or within the United States. Under the new system messages can be placed between any of the approximately 60,000 TWX stations, on both sides of the border.

Timber Record Set

OLYMPIA, Wash. (AP)—Washington's 1962 timber cut of 5,000,000,000 board feet was the largest since tree harvest data was first compiled by the state in 1949, state land commissioner Bert Cole said Tuesday.

The harvest topped the previous 1956 record by more than 16,300,000 board feet, Cole said.

The figures included timber harvested on state, private and federal lands.

Safeguards Adequate On T-Ban Says JFK

U.K. Gov't Stays Out Of Dispute

LONDON (Reuters) — British Labor Union leaders failed Tuesday night to persuade the government to intervene in the two-day strike by 200,000 construction workers.

George Woodcock, general secretary of the National Trades Union Congress, said he had not been able to induce the government labor ministry to call a conciliation meeting between unions and employers.

Between 150,000 and 200,000 men are idle on about 500 construction projects which the unions selected in various parts of England and Wales in their strike for higher pay and shorter hours.

After Woodcock's visit, the labor ministry said in a statement that it would not intervene because industry agreements allow no work stoppages until disputes are first referred to arbitration.

WASHINGTON (AP)—President Kennedy expressed confidence Tuesday adequate safeguards will be provided for the security of the United States if the Senate ratifies the limited nuclear test-ban treaty.

The president was told at a press conference of expressions of concern in the U.S. Congress that precautions wanted by the American military commanders may not be carried out as fully as the military desires.

He listed four safeguard items and said steps are under way and additional recommendations will be made to take care of them.

He knows of no reason why anyone should think the safeguards will not be fully maintained, he said, adding that on the first safeguard—maintaining laboratories — he has already consulted with scientists.

Second, he told of U.S. preparation to resume testing if the agreement is broken. Johnston Island, the Pacific testing site, has been prepared, he said, and $22,000,000 allocated for the purpose.

GIRL, 11, HAS TWINS

STEYR, Austria (AP)—An 11-year-old girl has given birth to twins, police reported Wednesday.

Police said the father of the twins was the girl's 39-year-old stepfather. He was arrested.

The mother and the two baby girls born here last Monday are well.

Third was a vigorous season of underground tests, not covered by the treaty. Some 97 of these have been conducted in two years, he said, and more will be.

The fourth safeguard was improving methods of detecting. "On that we have additional recommendations to make, which will be endorsed, I think, by the joint chiefs of staff," he said.

When mentioning 97 underground tests, Kennedy also said there had been 28 tests in the atmosphere and that this was seven more than the country had expected to undertake.

All three are members of Victoria Gladiolus Club.

'Thieves Grab 'Arsenal'

MONTREAL (UPI) — City police today redoubled their efforts to nab bandits who made off with enough arms and ammunition to supply a medium-sized military operation in two precision raids Monday.

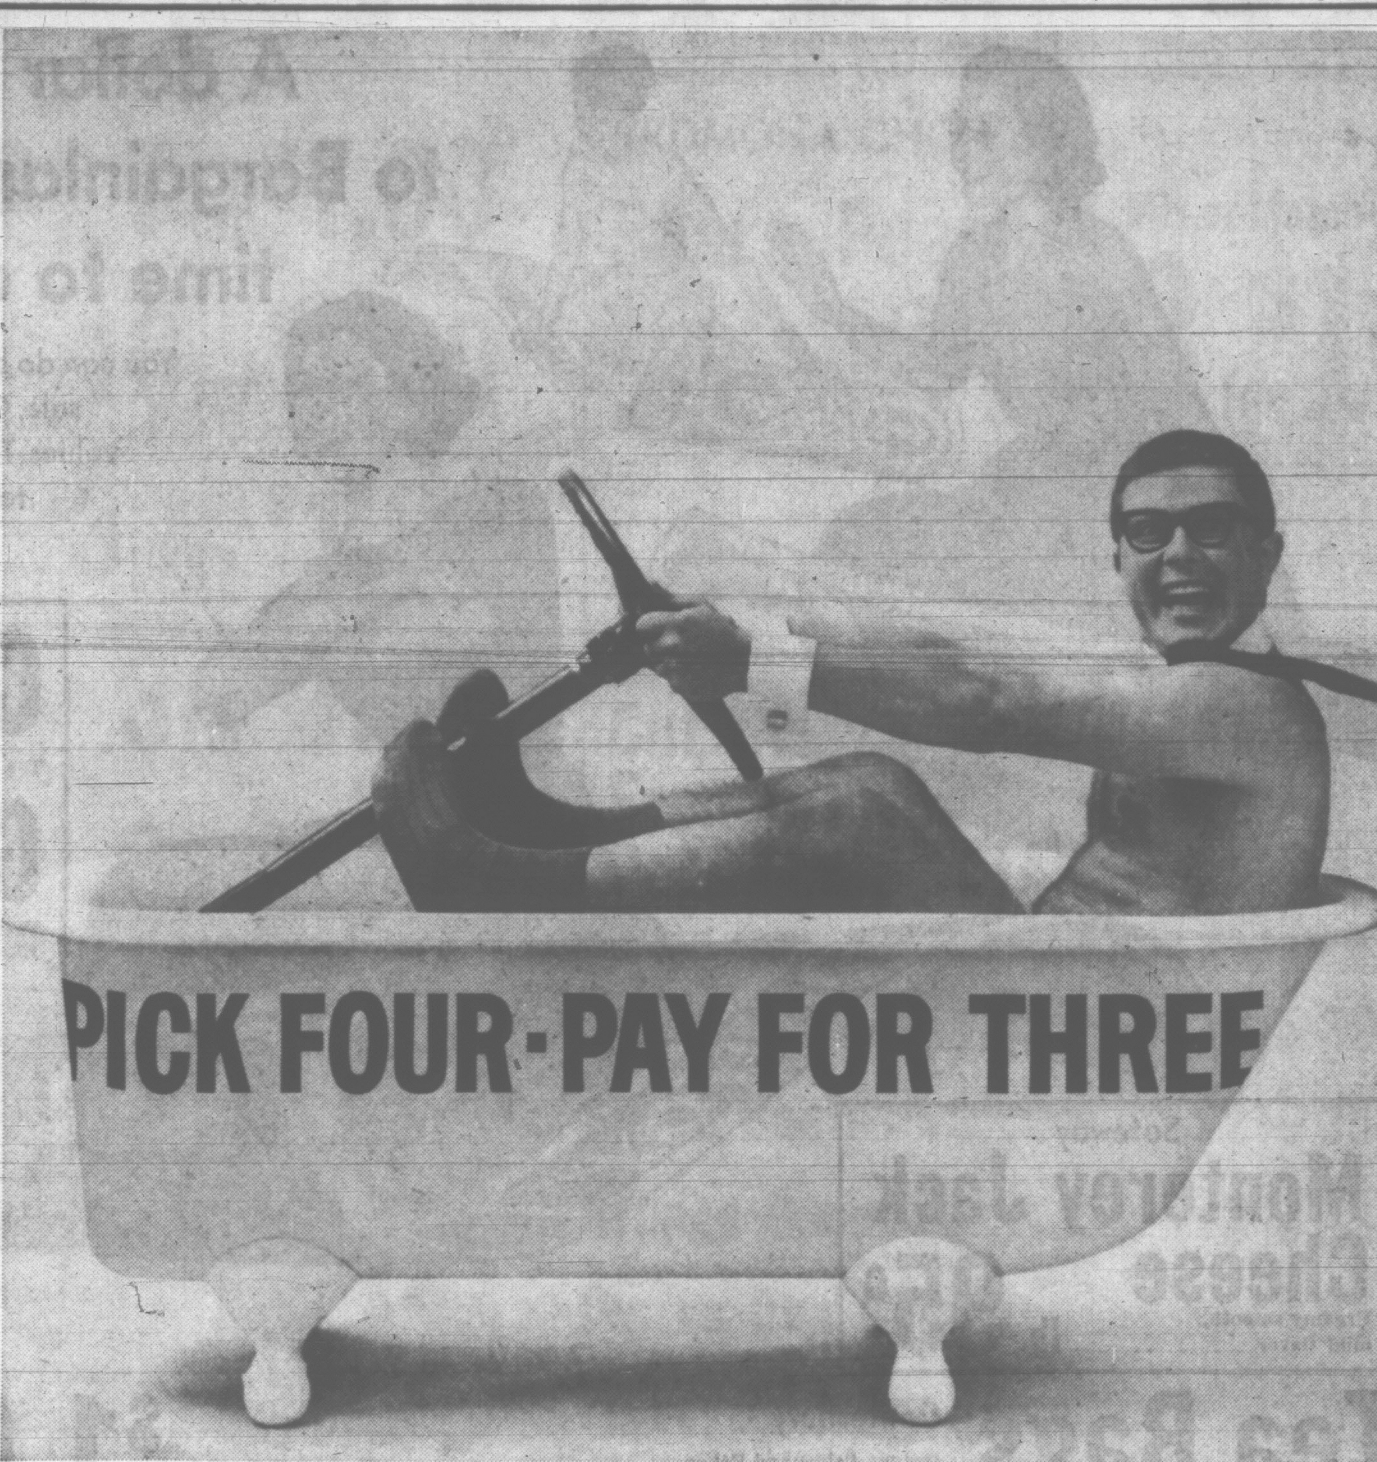

Robert called for stricter controls on the sale and possession of firearms.

Two east side stores were cleaned out of rifles, pistols and ammunition in separate early-morning and late night raids Monday. In both thefts the thieves gained entry by drilling through secluded walls, and both jobs looked "very professional," police said.

SPORTS DIARY

By SHIRLEY POVICH
(The Washington Post)

WASHINGTON — Ted Williams says that hitters aren't as good now as they were back in his era. And one reason he suspects, is a lack of dedication to baseball, anyway.

Williams, the picture of the outdoor type which endorses outdoor cigarettes, was in Washington at a luncheon for youngsters of the Walter Johnson League. Ted, by the way, doesn't smoke.

The man who hit .406 in 1941 demanded right off the bat, "How can you account for so many hitters with such low averages today?"

"The only thing I can see is that the hitters just aren't as good as they were in my day. But I still think that another .400 hitter will come along."

"Just consider that I was 38 years old in 1957 when I hit .388. Do you know how many more hits I needed to hit .400? Only six more."

"Mickey Mantle hit .333 with 52 homers in 1956. Mickey had 47 infield or 'leg' hits. I seldom had those because I wasn't fast enough. But my point is that Mickey wasn't too far away from hitting .400 then. He hit .365 in 1957 when I won the batting title with .388. He was even nearer to .400 that year."

Williams was even nearer to .400 that year.

Today's Kids Aren't Dedicated...

"I think a lot of kids just aren't going into baseball. Anyway, the kids in baseball today just aren't dedicated. I used to spend hours practicing hitting and then I'd play a doubleheader. It was baseball, baseball, baseball all the time I grew up."

"But the kids of today just don't want to work that hard. Do you know a sport of today in which kids do work hard? It's golf. I see kids on the golf courses practicing from morning till night. In a few years you're going to see more good golfers than ever before. The youngsters work at it. Guys like Palmer, Player, Nicklaus and the rest of them are glamorous. They're replacing the hero image of the baseball player. It's something to think about."

Williams is disgusted with many young baseball players who won't work hard.

"It doesn't take much to be a good hitter. It takes a little more to be a great hitter. When I was in a slump, I never waited for days or weeks to straighten myself out. I did something different."

Why, Sure, He Misses Baseball...

He quit baseball in 1960. Does he miss it?
"Sure I miss baseball. I'll take it over fishing and you know how I love to fish. Like I tell these boys — baseball is a wonderful sport. I think these guys of today can get themselves a scholarship if they apply themselves to the game. There's nothing that takes the place of a good education, and what better way to do it than on a baseball scholarship? Believe me, I would like to have had the opportunity to go to college."

Williams was a high school graduate. He always has been articulate. He still has that magnetic personality and isn't quite the ogre he has been painted by some sports writers. He works as a sports advisor for Sears-Roebuck.

"You know," he said musingly, "I hate to be in the public eye — always did when I was playing ball. Now I find myself on nine zillion of these luncheons and banquets. That's the lousy part of this job. But the pay is good and the people I work for are okay."

"You can't turn the clock but, boy, how I wish I was that skinny kid in San Diego starting all over again."

Billsborough Ruins Plans of Builders

Builders didn't look very efficient in the building business Tuesday night at Royal Athletic Park.

They were unable to hammer together anything that resembled a solid hitting attack and dropped behind in the semifinals of the city senior amateur baseball playoffs.

Norm Billsborough was the workman who wrecked Builders' construction plans. The 17-year-old right-hander allowed them only three hits as he pitched Independents to a 9-1 triumph in the opening game of the best-of-three series.

The series winner will go against Transport Workers in the final for the Rithet Cup.

Larry Johnston again provided Independents with hitting power, rapping up two of the winners' 11 hits. Larry McKinty and Charlie Hodge banged out payoff blows, each driving in two runs.

The game was called after six innings because of failing light.

Second game of the series is scheduled at Athletic Park Tuesday night at 6:15.

Independents 9 0 0 1 1 3 3
George Holt, Art Jones (3) and Barry Cosier, Norm Billsborough and Barry Sadler.

Duck Dates Switched For Interior Hunters

Alterations in waterfowl hunting regulations for two interior districts of the province have been announced by Earle Westwood, minister of recreation and conservation.

He announced that the federal government had approved all but one of the migratory bird seasons as printed in the B.C. game regulations. Amended is the open season on ducks, coots and geese in Game Management Areas 6 and 9.

In that portion of GMA 6 within Yale electoral district and the portion of GMA 9 within North Okanagan electoral district the season will open Sept. 28 and close Jan. 1, 1964.

OTHER AREAS
Open seasons in the remainder of the two areas referred to will be from Sept. 14 to Dec. 18 (not Sept. 28 to Jan. 1 as previously reported).

Copies of this amendment to the printed regulations will be available from all local branches of the provincial fish and game branch and from all licence issuers, Mr. Westwood said.

Rocks Continue Boxla Playoff At Arena Tonight

NEW WESTMINSTER

—The odds are getting sliced thinner for Victoria Shamrocks, but coach Don Ashbee is still hoping his plans will work out.

Before the current Inter-City Lacrosse League semifinal playoff between the Rocks and New Westminster started, Ashbee figured that if the Irish could win one game at Queen's Park Arena they would move into the final against Vancouver.

"We should win all our home games," he said. "All we have to do is win one at Westminster."

There is no doubt that this was optimistic planning. Not only did the Royal City crew finish far ahead of the third-place Rocks in the regular season. The Rocks haven't defeated Westminster on the mainland in four years.

FOURTH TONIGHT

The latest defeat in the Shamrock string came Tuesday night at Queen's Park as Westminster overcame a slow start to breeze to a 15-8 triumph and 2-1 lead in the best-of-seven series.

Shamrocks, who dropped the opener of the best-of-seven series here by a 15-7 count and then returned home to squeeze out a 18-8 victory, will try tonight to keep up the home-floor end of Ashbee's plans. They tackle Westminster at Memorial Arena at 8:30 in the fourth game, but even if they win they are fast running out of away-game chances.

The Rocks got away to an impressive start in Tuesday's tussle and were leading 3-1 after seven minutes. They held on for a 3-2 advantage at the end of the first period, but the roof fell in during the second quarter.

The Royals erupted for six successive goals to take an 8-3 half-time lead that was more than they needed. Two Westminster tallies came while the Irish were trying to exploit a manpower edge with Jack Barclay in the penalty box.

Billy Jobb broke away for the first of his three goals late in the first period and Doug McCormick scored early in the second while Barclay was still in the penalty box.

QUICK SPURGE

Westminster demolished any hopes of a Shamrocks comeback with three goals within 55 seconds in the third period.

Victoria's power play may be operating more smoothly tonight. Junior Bill Munroe will again step up with the Big Rocks to handle the point position on the odd-man play.

Jake Blonda and Jobb each connected for three Westminster goals and Ken Oddy chipped in with a pair.

Ron Jay paced Victoria snipers with three goals. Don Ashbee fired two and single tallies were collected by Jack Showers, Tom Collett and Sohen Gill.

Some fireworks exploded in the final quarter when Victoria's Bill Gray tangled with Barclay and both received major penalties.

Veteran Fullback Dealt to Detroit

DETROIT (AP) — Detroit Lions traded 12-year veteran offensive guard Harley Sewell to Los Angeles Rams Tuesday night for fullback Ollie Matson in a straight player deal.

Matson, an 11-year veteran of the National Football League, started with Chicago Cardinals and was traded to the Rams for 11 players.

GRANDSTAND PLAY

Elaborate effort and big smile didn't mean a thing as Chicago fans scramble for home-run ball hit into bleachers by Pittsburgh's Jerry Lynch. Guy in middle didn't come close to catching ball. It is nestled in hands of one of two men reaching at upper right. Pirates went on to take 5-3 National League decision over Chicago Cubs with the help of three home runs. (Story, scores on Page 11.) Don Wraps Up Crown; Theo, Marg Win, Too!

(Times News Service)

OTTAWA — Don McCormick tied the fancy ribbon on one Canadian junior tennis title, and the seasoned observers like Marg Naysmith's chances of making it two for Victoria.

Playing a strong and steady game, the 18-year-old McCormick upset Bob Moffatt of Vancouver to win the boys' under-18 crown Tuesday.

The Victorian was seeded second while Moffatt, 17-year-old from Vancouver who formerly lived in Victoria, was rated No. 1.

McCormick came from behind to defeat his favored opponent 5-7, 2-6, 6-0, 6-3, 6-3.

REGINAN WINS

In the only other championship match played Tuesday, George Jacoby, 14, of Regina whipped top-seeded Wes Spence of London, Ont., 6-2, 6-0 to take the boys' 14 and under title.

All eight closed titles now have been decided, and attention is centred on the open events where some 275 players are competing for 13 titles — one for boys and girls in each of the four age groups, 18 and under, 16 and under, 14 and under, and 12 and under, boys and girls doubles in the 14 and under and 16 and under groups, and one mixed doubles event.

Miss Maysmith created the big upset in Tuesday's open play. Marg, seeded third among the 16-and-under girls, defeated Brenda Nunn of Toronto, who is No. 3 in the under-18 girls' event.

The score was 2-6, 6-1, 8-6. Victory moved Miss Maysmith into the fourth round of the under-18 competition.

THEO WINS THREE

Another Victorian, Theodor Booker, figured in three victories. She won a second-round 6-2 verdict from Betty Lou Moglen of Brooklyn in the under-14 girls' singles after an earlier 6-2, 6-1 win over Frances Hurcomb of Ottawa.

Then, teaming with Linda Hills of Toronto, Theo scored an 11-6 win over Miss Moglen and Donna Shakespeare of Halifax in the opening round of the girls' under-14 doubles.

McCormick and Bob Puddicombe of Vancouver teamed up later in the day to move into the second round of the boys' under-18 doubles event. The West Coast pair beat Tom Murphy and Fulton Liss, a Maryland pairing, 11-6.

FRIENDS IN STANDS... FOR CARNARVONS

Pony Infield 'Skinned'

SAN DIEGO — Some things may be strange for Victoria's Carnarvon League All-Stars when the division Pony League baseball playoffs get under way here tonight, but they shouldn't feel lonely.

About 40 relatives and friends of the Victoria players are expected to be in the stands at 6 tonight when Carnarvons open the four-team playoff against Canova Park, California coast champions.

Whisked here by aircraft Tuesday, Carnarvons got in a Tuesday night workout at the National City Pony Stadium and ran into a "skinned" infield and lights for the first time.

They found the ball skipped faster off the skinned (without grass) infield and had some trouble adjusting to the lights. However, manager Norm Dixon was hoping this morning that his club would be able to overcome the switch to bare ground and lights.

Dixon announced that Brian Brossard, a curve-balling right-hander, would be tonight's starting pitcher for Victoria.

Also in the double-loss tournament are San Jose, Central California champs, and Kearny, Meza, southern winners. A team must lose two games to be eliminated and the winner here will advance to the Pony League world series next week at Washington, Pa.

Cool Play, Hot Finish Works Fine

Legion 7, Victoria 12
By ERNIE FEDORUK

Victoria Shamrocks have the jump, but to hear coach Tommy Druce tell it, "we're still along way from getting out of the woods."

Shamrocks hold a 1-0 edge in the best-of-five series for the provincial junior lacrosse championship after Tuesday's 12-7 decision over stubborn South Vancouver Legion.

But don't let the five-goal margin fool you. As Mr. Druce suggests, the Legionnaires don't appear to be the sort that relish a quick sprint to the sidelines.

CLOSE BATTLE

For three quarters Tuesday, Legion was more than a match for the defending Canadian champions. The mainland club, which gave Victoria its sternest opposition during the regular schedule, led 3-2 after the first quarter and 6-5 after the third. The half-time score was 4-4.

But aplomb, finesse and a seven-goal outburst in the final quarter picked this one up for the Baby Rocks, playing before 509 Memorial Arena customers.

"I figured we'd pull away sooner or later," said Druce. "Legion has been trying to play a slow deliberate game. My boys like to run. It upset us for a while, but we finally got rolling..."

And they started to roll because the polished Rocks played it cool. They stuck to their own system, refused to panic and displayed a finesse that is not too common with juniors.

EVEN SCORING

And there was depth. All but three players on the floor, exclusive of goalie Bob Fisher, picked up at least one scoring point for the Shamrock cause. Ray Beech, Bill Munroe and Rod Kilduff set the pace with three points apiece.

Munroe, Glen Vickers and Mike Woodley each scored two goals while singles came from the sticks of Nirmal Dillon, Rod Nesbitt, Jim Cunningham, Kilduff, Beech and juvenile Ron Zilkie.

Dennis Deslauriers and Mike Ramberg each scored a pair for Legion while the others came from Ken Payne, Dick Crompton and Joe Hamlin.

Although Victoria enjoyed a slight edge in territorial play, outshooting Legion 26-26, Fisher played a useful game. He was strongest early in the third quarter, coming up with several fine stops at crucial times.

SIX MAJORS

Referees Bill Colbourne and Arnie Ferguson ruled with a tight fist, albeit a trifle liberal with major and misconduct penalties. A misconduct to Vickers and six majors raised the game's penalty toll to 58 minutes.

Of the six majors, only two appeared deserved. A fourth-quarter fight between Munroe and Bill Robinson proved to be the main event. Scuffles which prompted Colbourne to hand out the other majors were tamer than a CGIT picnic.

Second game in the series will be played Thursday in Kerrisdale, and the third is scheduled for Sunday at Memorial Arena.

Marlene Continues Fine Form

SYDNEY, Australia (CP-Reuters) — Marlene Stewart Strait of Toronto, the only Canadian woman ever to win the British and United States Amateur titles, followed up her fine form while qualifying by trouncing Miss P. Tomkins of Australia 8 and 7 in the first round of the Australian women's golf championships today.

Mrs. Strait, who set a women's record of 74-72-146 for the Royal Sydney course in both qualifying 18-hole rounds, will meet defending champion, Australia's Judith Percy, in the second round Thursday. Miss Percy today inflicted the only defeat on the Canadian players. She beat Rae Milligan of Calgary 4 and 3.

The other two Canadian players, Betty Stanhope Cole of Edmonton and Mrs. Judy Darling Evans of Hudson Heights, Que., both won. Mrs. Cole beat Joyce Greenwood of Australia 5 and 4 and Mrs. Evans defeated D. Denbert of Australia.

In the second round Mrs. Cole will play New Zealander Mrs. Jean Mangan and Mrs. Evans meets the experienced British player Mrs. Frances Smith. Gayle Hitchens, 18, of Vancouver was three strokes off the qualifying pace with 83-88-171 and was eliminated. Mrs. J. H. (Marg) Todd of Victoria, the Canadian team captain, shot 90 in the first round and also was eliminated.

Dodgers Record Sixth Straight

By Associated Press

Turns out that buzzing sound last week wasn't Los Angeles Dodgers pushing the panic button after all, just Al Dark with a harmless bee in his bonnet.

Since last Thursday, when Dark's defending champion San Francisco Giants had trimmed Dodgers' National League lead to three games, all the sting's gone out of Giants.

Dodgers have rolled into high gear, reeling off six consecutive victories—the latest a 7-5 decision over second-place St. Louis Cardinals that increased their lead to 6½ games.

At the same time, Milwaukee Braves handed Giants their third consecutive setback, riding Lee Maye's three-run, tie-breaking homer to a 6-1 victory at San Francisco. The loss dropped Giants 7½ off the pace and only a game in front of Philadelphia Phillies.

PHILLIES SPLIT

Phillies, who split with New York Mets, had their eight-game winning streak snapped on a four-hit 1-0 shutout by rookie Grover Powell but took the second game of a twin-batter 2-1 in 12 innings to close up on Giants.

Elsewhere, Cincinnati Reds' Joe Nuxhall posted his 100th victory in a 1-0 victory over Houston Colts and Pittsburgh Pirates defeated Chicago Cubs 5-3.

Dodgers trailed 4-2 going into the fourth, but a five-run fourth inning aided by Bill White's throwing error beat Cardinals, who came into Los Angeles fresh from a three-game sweep of Giants.

In this age of specialization, Don Blasingame ranks as a specialist's specialist. He spoils no-hit bids.

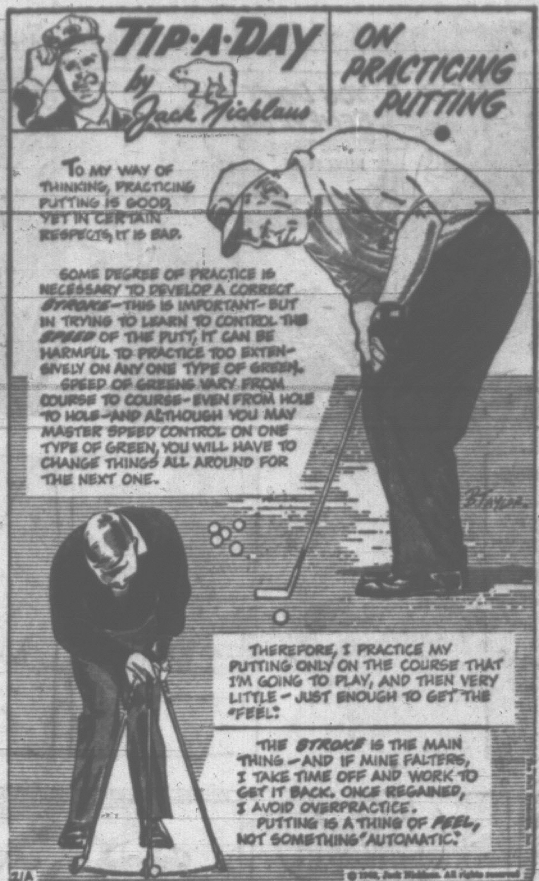

Washington Senators' handsome second baseman did it again Tuesday night with a fourth-inning bunt single, the only hit off Moe Drabowsky in the opener of an American League doubleheader against Kansas City Athletics who won the first game 9-0, with Doc Edwards batting in five runs, and took the second 7-5 in 14 innings on Jerry Lumpe's two-run homer.

DID IT BEFORE

Blasingame also played the spoiler against Stan Williams of New York Yankees Aug. 6, doubling for the lone Senator hit off the righthander. And last year, with Cincinnati Reds, the well-travelled infielder accounted for the only hit against Cal Koonce in a game against Chicago Cubs.

Dick Donovan's steady pitching and Vic Davallio's run-producing single in the ninth inning led Cleveland Indians over New York 2-1, trimming the Yankees' lead to 9½ games. Chicago's runner-up White Sox belted Boston Red Sox 10-2 as lefty Juan Pizarro became a 15-game winner for the first time in his career with a five-hitter.

Hank Aguirre pitched a two-hitter and got home run support from Rocky Colavito and Norm Cash in Detroit Tigers' 6-0 shutout of Minnesota Twins and Los Angeles Angels and were rained out at Baltimore.

Palmer Qualifies For 'Series' Play

AKRON, Ohio (AP)—Arnold Palmer shot a one-under-par 69 Tuesday to defeat Phil Rodgers and Jacky Cupit and earn a crack at the $75,000 world series of golf jackpot.

Playing masterfully over the 7,165-yard, par 35-35-70 Firestone Country Club course, Palmer put together a 34-35 in a runaway triumph. Rodgers shot 37-74 and Cupit 38-76. Palmer held a three-stroke lead

Hewlett Runs Into Trouble On Extra Hole

RED DEER (CP)—Phil Lederhouse of Prince Albert edged out Ronald Hewlett of Victoria on an extra hole to win the Western Canada Blind Golfers Tournament here Tuesday.

Lederhouse won when Hewlett conceded after falling two strokes behind on a playoff 37th hole. The pair were tied at 230 strokes each for 35 holes.

Lederhouse shot 110 for 18 holes Tuesday after a 120 for the first 13 holes Monday. He has won the Western Canadian Blind Golfers title eight years in a row.

Jack McPherson of Winnipeg captured the B Flight of the tournament with a score of 154 after 18 holes.

Post to Fight Libe Judgment

Jury Agrees on Malice Charges; Butts 'Very Humble, Grateful'

ATLANTA (AP)—The Saturday Evening Post plans to fight a whopping $3,060,000 judgment awarded former Georgia football coach Wallace Butts by a United States federal court jury which decided that the Post had ruined his reputation.

Immediately after the verdict was announced Tuesday, lawyers for the Curtis Publishing Company said they would appeal. It was one of the largest libel judgments ever rendered. The 12 male jurors who never played football heard 11 days of testimony and arguments about

TIME OUT! JEFF BEATE

"Running Bear think it wise to press on 10 miles to settlement; otherwise, we miss plenty hot floor show at swingin' joint!"

Leonard Favored In CPGA

EDMONTON (CP)—Stan Leonard rates as the odds-on favorite to win the 1963 Canadian Professional Golfers Association championship.

The 48-year-old Vancouver professional, a veteran of almost 25 years on the touring golf circuit in the United States and Canada, has an astonishing record in the tournament in the last 23 years.

He has won the CPGA crown eight times (1940-41-50-51-54-57-59-61), established the tournament record score of 203 at Quebec City's Royal Quebec course in 1961 and shares the second best tournament score—204—with Al Balding of Toronto.

Toss in a near miss of a ninth championship in 1962—he lost to Alvie Thompson of Toronto in a three-way playoff with George Knudson of Toronto—and that he once held the course record at Edmonton's Mayfair Golf Club. He tops a 121-man record field entered in this year's CPGA.

Two Victorians are entered. They are Dick Munn, 20-year-old Cedar Hill pro, and Ron MacLeod, head pro at Jasper Park Lodge, who lives in Victoria during the off-season.

The 54-hole, $10,000 medal play tourney moves through its 51st renewal Thursday, Friday and Saturday at Mayfair, a 6,775-yard trap-speckled, par-70 course.

Volatile Howie Pleads Guilty

DETROIT (AP)—Howie Young, who spent more time than anyone else in National Hockey League penalty boxes last season, is in danger of spending considerably more time in a different kind of penalty box.

This one has bars. It is Wayne (Detroit) County jail. And Young could be sent there for 90 days or fined $100 for an off-the-ice pre-dawn rough-house he engaged in with three Detroit policemen Monday.

Young, traded by Detroit Red Wings to Chicago Black Hawks last spring, pleaded guilty to a drunk and disorderly charge before recorder's judge John P. Scallen. The judge set sentencing for Sept. 4.

A member of the police department hockey team, Patrolman Joseph Curto said he was eating in the restaurant about 4 a.m. when Young and three male companions came in. "They were pretty boisterous," Curto said, "but I didn't pay any attention until the one I learned later was Howie Young made some remarks critical of policemen."

"Then he came over and snatched a sausage off my plate and ate it. I let him get away with that, but when he grabbed my hat and began to juggle it I reached the end."

"I told him to put the hat down and sober up. But he did not, so I went out to my car and told my partner who was waiting for me. We called the station and got a sergeant."

After the sergeant arrived, the policemen retrieved Curto's hat, but Young objected when they also tried to take him along.

Losing out, as he often did to National Hockey League referees, Young spent the rest of the night in the police station penalty box.

WATERFOWL PLENTIFUL . . . SO HUNTERS GET BREAK

Prairie Duck Limit Increased

OTTAWA (CP)—Hunters in Western Canada will be allowed to shoot more ducks this fall, the Canadian Wildlife Service announced.

The migratory bird regulations for 1963 show no change in bag and possession limits for ducks in Eastern Canada.

A more plentiful supply of ducks has resulted in restoration of the daily bag limit to five from four in Manitoba, Saskatchewan and Alberta. However, only four mallards may be taken daily.

The possession limit for ducks in the three Prairie provinces has been restored to 10 from eight. Eight mallards are allowed.

There will be no season for canvasback and redhead ducks in the Prairie provinces and in Quebec and Ontario.

Prairie hunters will be allowed to shoot five geese daily,

IT HAPPENED LAST NIGHT

By EARL WILSON

NEW YORK—Beautiful Connie Towers, the exemplary actress, has just had a new jewel robbery scare here . . .

It's hard to get the story, though, because all this talk of nudity nowadays — of Carroll Baker, Kim Novak, and all.

Honest, I'm just a simple family guy, with a mother-in-law of 78, a son of 20, a wife of — never mind that. I get letters, "Why do you write about dames going naked?" Honest, Mother, that's all they want to talk about!

Like Connie Towers, a perfectly nice girl, religious and all that, talking at 21.

"I was alone in my hotel, in bed. The air-conditioner noise slackened. I heard a door creak open . . . the thud of a heavy footstep. This time I wasn't naked."

Now did I bring it up?

One, midnight last January while I was interviewing Connie on the radio in one hotel, a thief stole $100,000 worth of jewelry, given her by her husband Gene McGrath, in her suite in another hotel.

In the bathroom later, undressed for bed, she spotted the jewel case in a wastebasket. Terrified that the thief might still be there, she scampered across the suite to a phone to call police.

NOTHING

"But this morning, when I turned on the lights—nothing! I propped chairs against the door. The creaky door was probably in another room. I slipped two pillows under the covers on the other bed. So it'd look like there was another person sleeping there."

"I felt silly in the morning. I'd told the maid there'd be only one person sleeping there. And two beds unmade! What would she think?"

(I didn't bring it up!).

Connie riddled on that she'd got full insurance for the January loss but now would I notice how "naked" her fingers were—that she played a stripteaser in her upcoming picture "The Shock Corridor" and in her next she'd play a prostitute.

"I'm neither lewd nor nude in the film," she said. "I don't show my navel. I don't show anything. I've never seen a movie where nudeness was necessary."

"There was a party at Malibu Beach the other night

. . . Lloyd Bridges swam to the party in snorkel and full paraphernalia. I said, 'Gee, if everybody dresses according to their roles, and I'm a stripper, what'm I supposed to wear?'"

"I'm going to demonstrate, that's what I'm going to do! I'm going to wear a sign to interviews: 'Nude Nudes Is Bad News.'"

THE MIDNIGHT EARL . . .

Tony Newley—being saluted at Dawson's for his excellent movie "The Small World of Sammy Lee"—revealed that he leaves "Stop the World" in November . . . Orson Bean and Henry Morgan will do a TV show together . . . Marty Ingels ("Fenster") left a party saying "I have to be back in the window at 9 a.m." and meant it—he's doing a window stunt on "Candid Camera," appealing to passersby to help him escape from his supposed wife-who's locked him in.

TODAY'S BEST LAUGH: George Chakiris reports on the newest Hollywood starlet who became a nudist: "She came from where to no wear!"

WISH I'D SAID THAT: "A gentleman farmer is a guy with more lettuce in his bank than in his garden."—At the Maud Chez Elle.

EARL'S PEARLS: "I think the world premiere of 'The Great Escape' should have been in Reno."—Jesse Kaplan.

TODAY'S WORST PUN: Jackie Kannon heard that Christine Keeler was writing her "men-oirs." That's earl, brother.

Is there something you want to know? Do you want to win a set of valuable books or other instructive prizes? Then ask Andy. Andy will answer questions submitted by child readers and those who submit the questions he selects to answer will receive worthwhile prizes. The youngster who asks the first question answered each day receives a 20-volume set of the World Book Encyclopedia and of the second question a Hammond Atlas or Globe.

Andy sends a complete, 20-volume set of World Book Encyclopedia to Jim Youngman, age 14, of Indianapolis, Ind., for his question:

What causes algae?

From time to time, the water in a goldfish bowl becomes fuzzy with clouds of floating algae. Murky clouds of algae also cloud reservoirs and swimming pools. We clean the water, and new colonies of algae arrive from who-knows-where. Perhaps if we know what causes these plants to form, we can discourage them and cut down on our cleaning chores.

Algae are members of the plant world and therefore made up of living cells. And all living cells come from other living cells, for all the teeming forms of life are handed on from one generation of cells to the next. An oak tree grows from an acorn, which is the seed of a parent oak tree. A sugar cane may grow from a joint in the stem of a parent sugar cane.

The algae plants have no stems, no roots, no seeds and no flowers, and most of them live in the water. They include a vast assortment of seaweeds from microscopic diatoms to giant kelps 60 feet long. Pond scum and various fresh-water plants are also algae. Many algae are single cells too small for our eyes to see as individuals. But teeming throngs of these floating microscopic plants tinge the seas and fresh waters with green or greenish blue, with brown or rusty red.

Some algae cells multiply by dividing in two. Some algae produce buds, and strings of daughter cells cling together in colonies. And some algae produce spores or seedlets which develop into a new generation. Certain one-celled algae of the ocean spend months in the spore stage. The spores are much smaller than the swarming plant cells that tinge the water. The tiny spores are invisible without the help of a microscope.

Algae Likes Sunny Water

Algae spores and single cells of microscopic algae are present in almost every drop of pond water. Too small to be seen, they teem in bodies of fresh water. A few spores or alga cells may be in the fresh water you put into an aquarium. Others may be stuck to the glass or lurking in cracks. These microscopic specks of life are just waiting to use sunlight and dissolved chemicals to sprout forth a new generation of algae.

Algae thrive in stagnant, sunny water and develop more slowly in shady, well-drained water. Traces of copper sulphate, sodium arsenite or other chemicals added to the water may discourage the spores and destroy the algae. But read the directions before using such a preparation, and follow them strictly. Too much may spoil the fresh quality of the water or kill off the fish along with the algae.

Andy sends a 15-inch World Book globe to Robin Klein, age 10, of Provo, Utah, for his question:

How big is the universe?

We need to stretch our imaginations to think about this question. So let's begin with the solar system and expand. From side to side, our solar system is about seven billion miles wide. Beyond it is the ocean of space, dotted with distant stars. All our stars are in the Milky Way, which is like a giant pinwheel more than 80 light years from side to side. Each light year equals about six million-million miles.

There is more space out beyond the Milky Way. It is dotted with millions of starry pinwheels like our Milky Way. The universe extends farther and farther in all directions, and where it ends, nobody knows.

FOR SALE: Wdwr, No Beauts nd Apply

SYDNEY, Australia (Reuters)—A 37-year-old widower advertised himself for sale today for £1,200 Australian ($2,916).

The buyer will get four children, a fully furnished house and a car thrown in.

The man, who did not give his name, invited offers from any woman between 28 and 36 who would like to get married.

But he said "no beauty queens need apply" because he would feel uneasy if he was seen walking down the street with a "real snasher."

His advertisement appeared in The Sun, a newspaper at Newcastle, 100 miles north of here.

The widower, who earns £20 a week, said in an interview his wife died in March, 1962.

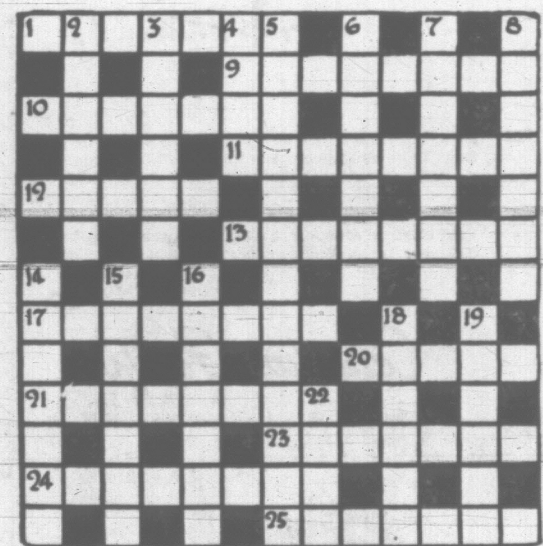

He said he needed the £1,200 to pay off debts on his house and furniture. Then, he, and his new wife could make a fresh start with his daughters, 14 and 13, and his sons 12 and 10.

"I am not ashamed in any way for offering myself for sale," he said. "My first consideration is for my family. At the same time I feel sure I can offer the right woman good companionship, a good home and secure future."

Tax-Wage Spiral Blasted

CALGARY (CP)—Three property-owner associations presented a brief to the royal commission on taxation today, claiming that Canadians are being over-taxed in a tax structure that is basically unsound.

"Fundamentally no system is sound wherein one level of government collects the revenue and hands part of it to another to disburse," said the Canadian Federation of Property Owners Association, the Ontario Property Owners Association and the Property Owner Association of Metropolitan Toronto.

When the two level of government have different outlooks on fiscal and welfare matters, added the brief, it can threaten the future of Confederation.

In a hard-hitting attack on Canada's fiscal policies, the brief said that high taxes and high wage levels are "the only causes of Canada's drop from a keenly competitive position in the markets of the world."

The sales tax on consumer goods and the tax on labor's income "have generated the steam in the wage-cost spiral."

CRITICIZE BUDGET

Finance Minister Gordon's budget "would appear to contain all the elements of another round on the inflation spiral at a time when we can ill afford it."

Canadian fiscal and monetary policies have been the main causes of the country losing so much industry to foreign control, said the brief.

Using living standards as a base, Canadians are paying 40 per cent higher tax than taxpayers in the United States, said the brief. At the same time Canadian productivity per worker remains at only 60 per cent of that in the U.S.

"Labor believes the best way to close the gap between living standards here and across the line is to demand parity, or as close to it as possible, in the matter of wage and hours. . . . The government on the other hand has tried to tax us as if our standards and productivity were equal to the United States and by means of social welfare measures seek to compensate from taxes for the shortcomings of our economy."

The associations told the commission, headed by Toronto chartered accountant Kenneth Carter, that Canada is probably the only self-governed country in the world where lower productivity is not matched with a proportional lower-cost economy.

The brief said that fiscal policies must be based on the retention of ownership "and the abandoning of the federal government, or other levels, of any taxes that are confiscatory."

Governments should decide what tax fields they want, and then try to eliminate duplication. Now, "not only is the same money taxed twice but in many cases it is extracted by at least two levels of government for the same purpose."

In pointing to duplication, the brief mentioned the federal government's entry into the field of subsidized housing and the provincial governments maintaining trade commissioners in foreign countries.

Among many suggestions made by the associations was one that all taxes which in any way dampen initiative be eliminated.

'Reluctant Peer' Wins Seat Back

BRISTOL, England (Reuters)—Anthony Wedgwood Benn, Britain's former "reluctant peer," was returned to the House of Commons Tuesday night with a huge majority over three independent candidates.

Wedgwood Benn was not opposed by the Conservative or Liberal parties.

Wedgwood Benn, a leading young member of the opposition Labor party, held the seat earlier but was forced out by the death of his father at which time he assumed the family title and the automatic right to sit in the House of Lords.

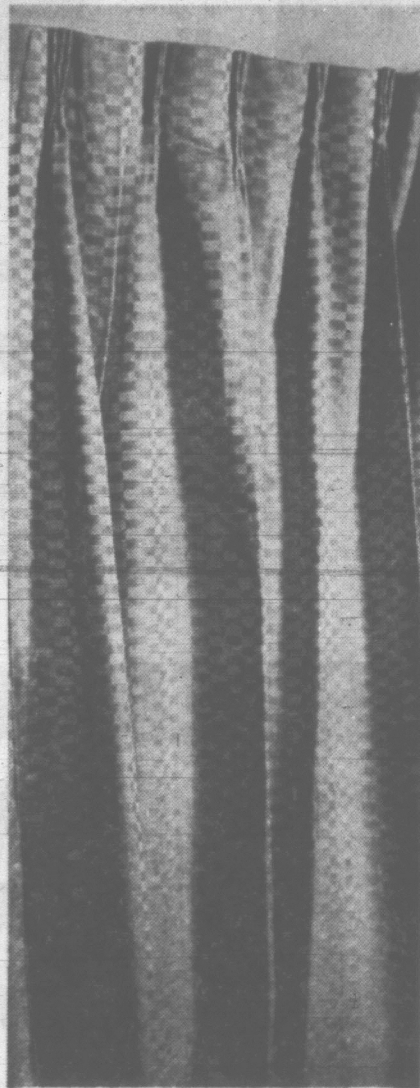

Wedgwood Benn was the constituency's member of Parliament until 1960 when he unhappily inherited his father's title as Lord Stansgate and was forced out of the Commons.

Now, because of a new law which allows peers to shed their titles, Wedgwood Benn is back in politics instead of facing a bleak future in the country's largely blue-blooded, politically toothless House of Lords.

Anglicans Hear New Unity Plea

TORONTO (CP) — An American church scholar said today Anglicans are unique in Christendom because they combine the best of Catholicism and Protestantism and an attitude of "reverent agnosticism."

Canon Howard Johnson, a New York Episcopalian, made his stab at defining Anglicanism for the Anglican Congress here as he and other speakers tackled the apparently opposing ideas that the calling of the Anglican Church is both to unite with other churches and to gird itself to carry a unique message to the world.

He said Anglicans must strengthen their church because they are best equipped to bring about the Christian unity that will cause them to disappear.

But Canon H. M. Waddams of England suggested Anglicans are arrogant to think they can contribute to church unity while they are divided themselves.

DIFFERENCES DIMINISH

Pakistani and Irish speakers said Christians in other countries should see how denominational differences diminish when Christians or Protestants are in a minority. Priobala Manarat-Rai said Pakistani Christians hand together in the face of a dominant Moslem faith. Protestants submerge differences in predominantly Roman Catholic Ireland, said Archbishop G. O. Simms, Primate of Ireland.

Canon Johnson, theologian at the cathedral church of St. John the Divine in New York City, said the Anglican "creatively synthesizes the best that is in Catholicism, the best that is in evangelicalism or Protestantism, the best that is in liberalism."

He defined liberalism as "a learned ignorance, a reverent agnosticism."

The Anglican recognizes that some things may be beyond reason, but "Anglicans don't buy things that are repugnant to reason."

SPEED UNITY

"Paradoxical as it may sound," said Canon Johnson, "we must for the time being maintain our separate existence as Anglicans precisely to speed the day when the (whole Christian) church will have regained visible unity."

Anglicans are entrusted with functions "we can perform better than any other Christian body," chiefly in bringing about church union.

Canon Johnson warned that "Christians are being outpaced, outdistanced, outbred," and added: "The scandal of a divided church constitutes the chief impediment to the progress of Christianity."

God, he said, may use the fear of losing out to non-Christian forces to force inter-church unity. "What He cannot evoke from us by His love, He may engender in us through fear."

Canon Waddams, resident scholar at Canterbury Cathedral, suggested the interim before church unity should be used by Anglican churches throughout the world to stop squabbling among themselves.

He compared the Church of England to a sometimes dominating parent and the other Anglicans to children "who have not yet thrown off their adolescent inhibitions."

The Anglican Church of Canada and the Episcopal Church of the United States each act as if the other doesn't exist, he said.

Highways Program 'Patchwork'

NELSON, B.C. (CP) — A proposed 10-year program of highway construction to tie in with power, industrial and tourist development programs was outlined by Progressive Conservative provincial leader Dave Fulton here Tuesday night.

Mr. Fulton told a public meeting that the program to fill in "vast gaps" in the provincial highway system would be instigated as soon as the PC's took office.

Describing the present highways program as "patchwork," Mr. Fulton said formation of the 10-year plan would commence before the party assumed power with advisers including government experts as well as engineers, and local governments.

"Our government, for a change, should take into account the needs of the municipalities," he said.

MARGARET ANNE
... that uncertain feeling

PAMELA
... pretty neat, huh?

... Shorter and Even Sweeter

Final result pleases Roxana and Pamela, but little Margaret Anne is just a mite doubtful about the whole affair. Mrs. Powers, who made the big decision, only hopes she was right. (Bill Halkett photos.)

The Glory That Was Theirs . . .

When the photo at left first appeared in The Times about two weeks ago, Mr. and Mrs. William Powers, 1271 Monterey, were mighty proud of their three daughters—Margaret Anne, 5; Pamela, 7, and Roxana, 8. Each young lady was beautifully crowned with hair which had never been cut. But then Mrs. Powers began to wonder how they'd look with more modish hair-dos; the next step was a visit to Maison George, where hair stylist George surveyed the situation and took drastic snips.

COLLISION VICTIM SUCKED INTO PROP

A fisherman who died after a freighter collided with his skiff in Juan de Fuca Strait Tuesday has been identified as Asbjorn Brattli, 10873-130th Street, North Vancouver.

He was apparently sucked into the freighter's propeller, which cut off a leg. He was picked up by the fisheries patrol vessel Howay but died before the ship reached Port Renfrew.

The accident occurred in fog off Clo-oose, south of Bamfield on the west coast of Vancouver Island.

His partner in the skiff was Raymond Bak, 2125 West 31st Avenue, Vancouver, who suffered severe shock but escaped other injury.

The dead man was wearing a lifejacket, the survivor was not. At the time of the accident, the two men were setting a net for the Nelson Bros. seiner Western Girl. The freighter involved was the Horace Luckenbach, New York.

DEMOLAY STUNT

Marathon Car Wash Planned

A group of Victoria youths are going to wash cars until they drop next week.

Rich Sunderland, 17, of 1648 Richardson, and three companions have organized a marathon car wash to be held at Suburban Motors Shell station starting at noon Monday.

They plan to sponge cars day and night—99 cents regular; 75 cents sports models—until they have to throw in the sponge, or fall asleep.

BEST IN WORLD

"It's for the Order of Demolay," Rich says. "Most people don't know what Demolay is and we think it is the best organization in the world."

Demolay is a group of teen-aged boys banded together to build character and promote responsible citizenship.

From Sept. 13-15 at Camp Potlatch, near Vancouver, they will hold their annual convocation, assisted by funds derived from the car wash.

Assisting Sunderland will be Brian Tyre, 16; Steve Holmes, 16; Eric Cable, 18, and others of the order who are able to help from time to time.

THE BANG WAS GONE

A navy mine and mortar bomb were found to be harmless by a demolition team rushed to remote Nootka Island, an RCN spokesman said today.

A beachcomber reported a practice mine and a drill mortar bomb on the beach two miles east of Bajo Point.

The navy sent a team under Lieut.-Cmdr. W. E. James, of the operational diving unit, via RCAF helicopter.

The team found neither weapon explodable, but blew holes in them so they would not float if washed off the beach again.

ALDERMAN'S IDEA

Farmyard Frolics For Park Visitors

Any service club in search of a community project could not do better than set up a summertime farmyard animal pen in one of the city parks, Ald. M. H. Mooney said today.

"The children would just love it," he said. "There are hundreds of children here who would be really eager to see some ordinary domestic animals and watch them grow."

"I'll bet there'd be a lot of adults who got a kick out of it, too."

Ald. Mooney said he would give his full support as parks committee chairman to any community organization that wanted to take up the idea.

ON LOAN

He said he was sure that farmers would be willing to lend some piglets, calves, lambs, kids and baby rabbits if they were assured they would receive adequate care.

These could be returned to the farmers each fall and a fresh batch of young stock obtained the following summer.

"The most popular site undoubtedly would be in Beacon Hill Park's present animal pen but I'm sure we could provide room in any of the other parks if they were preferred," said Ald. Mooney.

He said the animals could be housed in specially-built nursery rhyme displays as has been done in Edmonton's popular nursery rhyme barnyard park.

POPULAR

"A service club undertook just such a project in Oaklands and it was very popular. I've often thought something similar here would be wonderful."

"We've all seen how the youngsters enjoy watching Queenie the horse, the chickens, deer and peacocks that stay in Beacon Hill Park."

"I know they would love to see some more animals—and they don't have to be the kind you see just in a zoo."

Hits 'Narrow Canadianism'

Premier Bennett said today he is opposed to what he called a "narrow Canadianism" that dictates a buy-Canadian policy.

Instead, he said, Canada should buy more from Britain. He announced a "Buy British" policy for B.C. at a press conference on his return from a week's visit to Britain and France.

"Our difficulty is that we buy too much from Ontario and Quebec who buy hardly anything from us," Mr. Bennett said.

He said B.C. will make representations to the federal government for a lowering of tariffs on British goods.

Britain buys two and a half times more than she sells in Canada, he said.

SALES PITCH

He said his mission to Britain was to urge industry there to make a big sales pitch in B.C.

He said he met with a number of industrial leaders, and also held talks with Britain's president of the board of trade, F. J. Erroll.

He dined with Canadian newspaper tycoon Roy Thompson in London, and with Lord Beaverbrook at his villa in the south of France, where he spent three days.

Mr. Bennett said that he took his former executive assistant Ronald B. Worley, now assistant manager of B.C. ferries, with him to Europe.

WORLEY NEEDED

He said Mr. Worley was needed to assist his present executive aide, W. C. Budd, in a heavy round of engagements.

The premier said he urged British firms to send agents to B.C. and drummed up exhibits for the B.C. Trade Fair to be held in Vancouver next May.

"Britain is not covering the B.C. market," the premier said. He said that in the past year goods worth $128,000,000 were exported to the U.K., while imports totalled only $52,000,000.

"That can't last," he said. "As head of the government here it was my duty to try and rectify the situation."

He said his decision to go to England was made while in Halifax at the beginning of the month for a provincial premiers conference, although it had been thought about for several months.

YOUNG SOLDIERS taking part in summer training camp at Albert Head won high praise from Major-General J. M. Rockingham, general officer commanding, Western Command. General Rockingham inspected the young men, from militia units throughout B.C., on the parade square at the Canadian Services College, Royal Roads, Tuesday morning. Army Wife to Shun Germany Transfer

Because of dissatisfaction over housing arrangements, at least one Victoria soldier's wife will not go to Germany with the Princess Patricia's Canadian Light Infantry when the regiment is moved to Hemer in October and November.

"It isn't good enough," the soldier's wife told The Times. "My husband will do his duty and go to Hemer. I shall stay here with our two children. I know other wives in Victoria feel the same."

This informant said she had just learned her family would not get married quarters at Hemer.

"We have been warned we will have to find quarters in German civilian homes, with perhaps two or three families sharing a bathroom. With two small children, I won't settle for those conditions."

"If we had four children we would probably get married quarters," the soldier's wife said. "Having only two, we are among the unlucky ones."

"I know of one case where a Victoria soldier, with 12 years' service, recently left the army because he will not accept poor living conditions for his family. He has been to Germany before and knows what we are up against."

A spokesman for the PPCLI at Work Point Barracks declined comment on this statement today.

"Hot water and heat is uncertain; electricity is expensive and modern household equipment is rarely found."

The guide to dependents states that 150 married quarters are available for 350 families on a priority basis. The rest must find civilian accommodation.

Tax Collectors Say Forgetters Causing Rush

City taxpayers seem to have forgotten the "taxes due" date was pushed ahead last year to July 31, officials guessed today.

Latest count shows collections made a remarkable surge in the first half of August after being almost $100,000 behind the 1962 level when the deadline was passed.

Main explanation comptroller-treasurer James Bramley thinks is the amount of publicity on the due date.

"Last year we gave it far more publicity because it was the first year of the switch-over advancing the due date. This year there was just the routine amount of publicity."

A 1 per cent penalty went into effect Aug. 1 and further 1 per cent penalties will be added on unpaid taxes Sept. 4 and Oct. 15. On Nov. 30 an additional 3 per cent penalty will be levied.

Arthur Mayse on Vacation

TOPICS of the DAY

Mrs. F. H. Sanders will be guest of honor at keel-laying ceremonies for a research vessel for the Pacific Naval Laboratory, Esquimalt.

Mrs. Sanders is the wife of Dr. F. H. Sanders, superintendent of the PNL, who took part in developing design of the $4,500,000 ship.

Keel will be laid at 4 p.m. Sept. 4.

Robert Vickery will speak on "Investment Planning" to night at 7 when South Van Isle Lions meet at the Chez Marcel.

A woman reported missing overnight Tuesday was found dead on the beach near the 8th tee of Victoria Golf Course shortly after 9:30 this morning.

The 63-year-old woman, whose name was not released by Oak Bay Police, had been ill recently. Police said an inquest will not be held.

Her body was discovered by an Oak Bay policeman who was searching for her. She had drowned and her body was left on the shore when the tide went out.

Victoria Aqua Ski Club will hold a meeting tonight to plan the Vancouver Island Closed Tournament to be held Sept. 7. The meeting will begin at 7:30 at 575 Johnson.

Patrick B. Blewett, assistant administrator of St. Joseph's Hospital, will go to Chicago in September to be admitted to the American College of Hospital Administrators.

He has been at St. Joseph's for the past four years and will return here after the ceremony. The American College, now in its 30th year, was founded to provide recognition to outstanding hospital administrators.

Ask The Times

Q. Will you please tell me what and where was the disturbance caused by production of the Playboys of the Western World somewhere in the United States early this century?—N. M.

A. The disturbance to which you refer was probably the riot in the Abbey Theatre, Dublin, in 1907 when the play was first presented. Patrons of the theatre thought that the author, John Millington Synge, had misrepresented Irish rural life.

The play has since been acclaimed as Synge's masterpiece. There is no record of its having caused a disturbance in an American production.

Considerable cloudiness, possibility of scattered showers tonight and hopes for partial clearing Thursday afternoon were the words from weatherman William Mackie today.

However, he said there were some hopeful signs, that Friday would be a brighter and more summery day.

Temperature ranges were expected to be 48 to 52 degrees overnight and 65 to 72 during Thursday.

A prisoner who couldn't hear and didn't understand sign language forced Magistrate William Ostler to put everything in writing in city magistrate's court Tuesday.

The magistrate made sure Roy Priestley saw in writing every scrap of evidence concerning three counts of false pretences that he faced.

Priestley pleaded guilty on all counts. They involved cheques he cashed in downtown stores on non-existent bank accounts.

Priestley received either cash or goods for each cheque and pawned or sold the articles, according to evidence of Detective James Baxter.

He was remanded one week while police investigate the possibility of laying more charges against him.

LOS ANGELES, MAINLAND GUESTS

55 Scouts Off Sunday on Olympic Trek

Fifty-five Vancouver Island Boy Scouts, with two guest scouts from Los Angeles and a few from the mainland, will hike 55 miles through the Olympic Mountains, starting Sunday.

Leaving here by the 10 a.m. ferry for Port Angeles, they will camp each night under plastic tarps, about three feet high, and cook their meals with special mountain-pack dehydrated foods.

"Fires will be lit in safe areas," said assistant Victoria scout commissioner Glenn Oliphant, who will lead the hikers with R. L. V. Jermain.

SEPARATE ROUTES

Mr. Oliphant will be scoutmaster of the Skokomish troop, while Mr. Jermain will lead the Skyline troop. Each troop will take a different route through the mountains, meeting at Quinalt Lake on Saturday, Aug. 31.

They will return to Victoria Sunday, Sept. 1.

The two guests from Los Angeles are Tom McGrath, 17, of Canora Park troop and Robert Albrecht, 15, of Woodland Hills troop. Their host in Victoria is Dennis Arnsdorf, 17, of 4th Cedar Hill troop.

Last year three Victoria scouts took part in a 60-mile hike organized by Los Angeles scouts through the High Sierras.

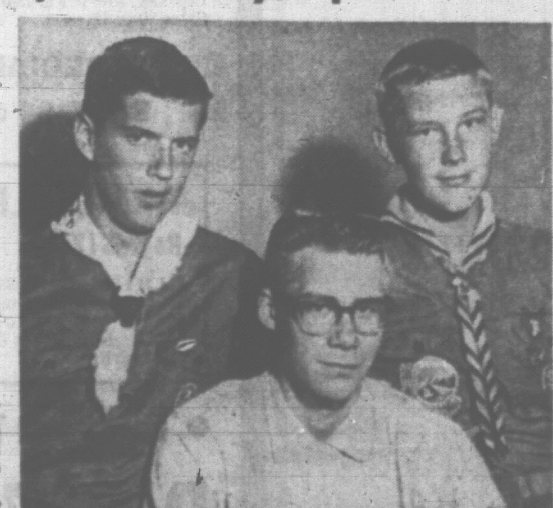

"We returned their hospitality by inviting the Los Angeles scouts to send two or three guests up here," Mr. Oliphant said.

STEAMED UP

"We are now praying for fine weather. It should be a first-class expedition and all the boys are pretty steamed up about it."

Meantime, Dennis Arnsdorf is showing the Los Angeles scouts the highlights of Victoria.

"It seems very quiet after Los Angeles," said Tom McGrath. "A really nice place for a vacation."

SHOPPING GUIDE

If You Buy a 'Rubbing' It Won't Be for Muscles

By PENNY SAVER

There's no end to the curious things that Victoria shops can provide—a "rubbing" for instance. It isn't, as you might suspect, anything like a massage. Rather it is a work of art that comes from Peking.

Manager of store I was in explained to my untravelled self that many old stone carvings, often as much as 1,000 years old, can be seen even on the streets of Peking. And it is a modern idea to cover the carvings with sheets of rice paper and then rub this with a piece of charcoal.

You've probably done the same thing with a penny and a pencil. But the result of this Chinese effort is a "drawing" that is most effective when framed and hung—and gives the person who hasn't actually seen the ancient carvings some idea of what he has missed.

Store has "rubblings" priced from $2.50 to $3.50 that copy at least 10 different carvings. They are unframed at this price but store can help you choose frames and have them done.

Also from Peking are small velvet birds that are selling at special prices right now. I thought of a woman who phoned me recently wondering where she could buy a bird to stick in a house plant. These aren't quite what she had in mind, but with their brilliant plumage they would be a striking addition.

There are several different species represented, but all are gaily and tropically colored. Prices now are, small, two for 35 cents; medium, two for 65 cents, and large, two for 95 cents.

Store's selection of Chinese figurines includes the goddess Kwan Yin, goddess of love and mercy. They come in sizes ranging from three inches in height to about two feet, with prices from 50 cents and up.

And if you are interested in Chinese lore, you will be thrilled with the stories that manager gives with the figurines. This includes the position of the goddess in Chinese religion today and some idea of the legends told of her.

Be as fascinated as Penny by calling me at 382-3131 for name of shop that has these items.

Tucks in Neckline Can Be Disguised As Decoration

Dear Eunice Farmer:

"I often have trouble with the fit of a boat neckline. When the dress fits perfectly otherwise, there seems to be too much material between the sleeves so the neckline won't lie flat. I adjusted one dress by taking tucks at the neckline, but how do I cover up these unsightly alterations?"

Mrs. E. S.

Dear Mrs. E. S.:

This is a problem many of us have. You must make a small tuck in your pattern BEFORE you cut out your garment. This tuck should not be more than one-fourth inch wide, and about three inches deep. It's always best to make a sample bodice before cutting into your good fabric if you are uncertain about the fit of any neckline.

As to correcting a neckline after the garment has been cut, you will have to try to think of some way to make this dart a decorative detail. It could be made on the right side of your fabric, perhaps making two or three smaller darts and arranging them in a sunburst design. You could also make a small embroidered arrow at the end of each dart which would also make it more decorative. Good luck!

A BOY UNNAMED.

DEAR UNNAMED: Boredom is only one of your problems. A boy your age needs fresh air, exercise and the companionship of other young people. Ask your mother if there isn't a day camp where she can send you. A boy your age shouldn't be cooped up in the house all summer.

DEAR ABBY: My sister and I have a friend who lives in the same apartment building as we do. She went on a vacation and left the keys to her apartment with her gentleman friend so he could water her plants and look after her goldfish. She hadn't been gone two days when this no-good gentleman friend brought another woman into her apartment. All the neighbors know about it and we are afraid one of them will tell her when she gets back. Should we tell her first, or should we let this man make a fool of her?

FRIENDS. DEAR FRIENDS: Who was the other woman? Why did the "gentleman" take her there?

Unless you are sure of the facts, don't be the bearer of such news. And if you are sure, even then think twice.

DEAR ABBY: My husband and I were invited to a wedding. He scarcely knows the people and I have never met them. My husband is a professor, and the bride was a former student. My husband will be unable to attend as the date conflicts with a previous commitment. Would it be proper for me to go with my older, bachelor brother? Must we send a gift whether we attend the wedding or not?

MUST KNOW. DEAR MUST: You were apparently invited because of your husband's former association with the bride. In view of this fact, and since you know none of the people involved, it might be wise to decline the invitation. A gift is always optional.

Tell your troubles to Abby. For a personal, unpublished, reply, please send a stamped, self-addressed envelope.

The engagement has been announced of Margaret Patricia, only daughter of Mrs. J. E. Leech, 2829 Austin Avenue, and the late Mr. Jesse Leech to Mr. Hugh Wilson Johnston, only son of Mr. and Mrs. H. Johnston of Penticton, B.C. The wedding will take place on Saturday, August 31, in the First Baptist Church at Penticton.

WHY GROW OLD?

By JOSEPHINE LOWMAN

Preserve Youthfulness By Caring for Skin

Many women are confused about how to care for their complexion, and they are smart to be concerned because there are so many fine products on the market. There is no universal treatment. Complexions differ, and what is good for one may be bad for another.

Let me try to clarify a few ideas for you today. Let's think first of astringents. Some women believe that these tighten the skin and therefore create a more youthful contour.

Remember this general rule when considering the use of an astringent: If your complexion is dry, do not use one. If it is oily use one daily. If you have a combination skin with oily spots such as the nose and chin, use the astringent on these areas only.

A woman may be uncertain about whether to use soap and water or a cleansing cream on her face and neck. Soap and water are splendid for the normal complexion. If a woman has extremely dry skin, a cleansing cream is better. As the woman with a normal epidermis grows older, she may find that the natural oils decrease to such an extent that it is desirable to switch to cleansing cream.

Another bothersome question is, whether or not the woman who has normal skin needs a lubricating cream. I think that the average woman who has an average normal complexion must use a lubricating cream regularly if she is to delay signs of aging. This is especially true if she is in the sun much or the weather is very dry or cold. Practically everyone can profit by the use of an eye cream, patted on gently about the eyes.

The only woman who does not need lubricating creams is the one whose complexion is extremely oily. Soap and water several times a day and an astringent are best for her.

Perhaps you would like to have my free leaflet "Reconditioning at Home" to give your skin a pick up before fall. If so, send a stamped, self-addressed envelope with your request for leaflet No. 49 to Josephine Lowman in care of this newspaper.

Cathedral Servers Form Guard

Servers of Christ Church Cathedral, dressed in their red cassocks, formed an honor guard at the west door of St. Luke's Anglican Church as Mr. and Mrs. John Richard Storr, nee Diana Mary Hamilton, left the church following their wedding, Saturday evening.

The bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. William Hamilton, 1736 Emerson Street, and the groom is the son of Mr. and Mrs. L. C. Storr, 1906 Woodley Road.

Archdeacon C. E. F. Wolff officiated at the ceremony.

Couple was united in a double-ring service in candlelight. Pale pink and white gladioli decorated the church. Miss Kay Hamilton, the bride's aunt from West Summerland played "Ave Maria" during signing of the register.

A floor-length white satin wedding gown was chosen by the bride. It was styled with a semi-sheath skirt that had panel edges etched in embroidered Alencon lace and a bodice with sweetheart neckline and lily point sleeves with lace trim. A coronet of tear-drop pearls held her bouffant shoulder-length veil of nylon net.

As well as her bouquet of pale pink sweetheart roses the bride carried a white Bible. Her only jewelry was a 53-year-old bracelet that was worn by her grandmother on her wedding day.

Maid of honor, Miss Gail Smith and bridesmaid, Miss Pat Huxtable chose identical dresses in deep aqua shade. Draped effect on the short-sleeved bodice was accented by white rose embroidery that was repeated on the skirts.

Junior bridesmaid, Miss Carol Drummond wore a princess style frock in the same shade. All carried white feathered carnations and sweetheart roses and wore headpieces in butterfly design that were in tone with their gowns.

Flower girl, Miss Elizabeth Conway, wore a dainty white embroidered nylon organza dress. In her hair and in the basket she carried were white carnations.

Best man was Geoffrey Conway and ushers were Frank Gibbons and Burton Rumsby.

Jack Drummond proposed the toast to his niece at a reception in Holyrood House. The bride's table was centred with a three-tier cake made by her uncle, James Wilms-hurst. Pink sweetheart roses and pink candles flanked the cake.

Leaving on a honeymoon trip through the interior of the province, the bride wore a two-piece scarlet wool crepe suit and black and white accessories. Couple will live in Victoria upon return.

BETWEEN OURSELVES

Dream of Devonshire Cream Became Reality In Metchosin

By Elizabeth Forbes

Joyce Dubuc left for her home in South Carolina on Monday, happy in the knowledge she had renewed many friendships here after an absence of 22 years.

Contented, too, for with the help of this column she had rediscovered Devonshire Cream, a delicacy she remembered and loved from her childhood days.

We relayed Joyce's plaintive question—"does anyone make and serve Devonshire Cream anymore?"—to our readers a little over a week ago.

As soon as it was in print, the phones started ringing and they continued to ring for nearly two days.

We received suggestions as to where the cream might be found; ideas on how to make it and we listened to reminiscences of the days when it was plentiful and you could get it by the bowlful.

When we sorted out our notes however, it was startling to find that we had only three places where our informants had actually eaten the delicacy within recent months.

The information was passed on to Mrs. Dubuc. She made her choice—the Fernie Farm on Williams Head Road in Metchosin.

And last Saturday with her mother, Mrs. Laura Plant; Mr. and Mrs. George McCann of Victoria, and Mr. and Mrs. Len Aven of Courtenay, she motored out there for tea.

"It was wonderful!" Mrs. Dubuc told me before she left the city on Monday.

"Tea was served in the garden under the trees. The table was set with fine linens, lovely china and old silver. Mrs. Fernie and her daughters served the tea themselves—hot biscuits, fresh strawberry jam and Devonshire cream, two big bowls of it. And they fitted right into the picture.

"I've never seen anything more perfect. It was a setting straight from England's Devon coast. We loved every minute of it."

Before she left Victoria, over 22 years ago, Mrs. Dubuc trained as a nurse in the Jubilee Hospital. During her recent visit she was very busy looking up members of that class of long ago (Dorothy McCann was one) and renewing friendships made then.

"On several occasions we talked into the small hours of the morning," she told me. "We reminisced, we laughed until we nearly had hysterics and we remembered so many things from those happy days."

"I wouldn't have missed it for anything."

Now Joyce Dubuc is in Toronto visiting her brother John Plant and his family, before she goes on to her home in the southern States.

"But I'll be back," she promises. "I hope long before another 22 years roll around."

"And when I do come I hope Mrs. Fernie and her daughters will serve me another Devonshire cream tea, with hot biscuits and strawberry jam. Ummmm! What a memory!"

In researching the Devonshire cream situation for Mrs. Dubuc, we discovered that both the Chalet at Deep Cove and the Nutshell in Victoria, serve it at the tea hour.

And Joseph Zanichelli, maître d' at the Empress Hotel, telephoned us to say that each Thursday afternoon a Devonshire cream tea is served there. Good eating!"

A Classic Wedding Gown

An exquisite floor-length gown of white silk taffeta was chosen by Miss Helen Anne Caldwell when she exchanged vows with Wilfred John McInerney in a recent ceremony in St. Andrew's Cathedral.

Dainty self-fabric bows in back accented the full skirt which extended to a slight train. Bodice featured sweetheart neckline trimmed with Alençon lace. A crown of drop crystals, rhinestones and pearls held her chapel-length veil edged with hand-embroidered Swiss lace. White feathered carnations, pink roses and lily were in her bouquet. She was given in marriage by her father.

Large baskets of white gladioli decorated the church. Rev. Bernard Hanley officiated at the ceremony and the organist was Miss M. McKay.

Parents of the principals are Mr. and Mrs. Richard J. Caldwell, 3033 Fifth Street and Mrs. W. McInerney of Australia and the late William McInerney.

Maid of honor, Miss Kathleen Caldwell and the bridesmaid, Miss Patricia Caldwell wore identically styled gowns of white lace over pink taffeta with pink net headpieces centred by pink self-fabric roses. They carried colonial bouquets of pink sweetheart roses encircled with white feathered carnations and gladioli.

David Molin was best man and the ushers were Colin Fleck and Michael Farrell.

A three-tier wedding cake in a circle of sweetheart roses centred the bride's table at a reception in the Dominion Hotel. Jack Henderson proposed the toast to the bride.

Leaving for a honeymoon in Vancouver the bride wore a yellow sheath dress, matching topcoat, bone and brown accessories and an orchid corsage.

On return the newlyweds will make their home on Head Street.

Crispy-coated frozen fish sticks are so easy to fix and such a good eating, they're a staple in many home freezers. Here's a quick flavor trick to try out next time you serve the flaky fish bits. Heat fish sticks as usual; then spread them on top with a mixture of equal parts of prepared horseradish and tomato ketchup. Serve immediately.

'Down on the Coral'

VANCOUVER (CP) — "We were two days out from the Panama Canal, headed for the northern tip of Cuba..."

Brian McDermott, 23, was resting at home here, telling of the last voyage of the 97-foot ketch Morning Star.

"I had the watch from eight to midnight and saw a squall in the distance. Even on a moonlit night it appeared as an ink mess."

Brian was the only Canadian in the crew. He left here last May to serve on the vessel owned by electronics executive Fuller Callaway III of San Francisco. The trip ended on a coral reef in the Caribbean, the $100,000 vessel a total loss.

McDermott and his four companions lived through it all.

"Callaway took over at midnight. About 2 a.m. he suddenly noticed the fathometer read two fathoms. He pulled back on the throttle and we all ran on deck."

Morning Star had sailed in a race off Mexico, then went through the Panama Canal and put north for Newport, R.I., to enter a trans-Atlantic race.

CRASHED ON REEF

"Suddenly we saw a huge wall of white water off the bow. It was the back of a comb. We were swept forward on its crest and when it broke we crashed down on the coral reef. The surf lifted us up and slammed us down repeatedly but miraculously the ship stayed upright."

"Then she went over to an 85-degree angle on the port beam and swung broadside to the waves. Fuller and Peter Horne were washed overboard and the dinghy was torn from its moorings."

"Seconds later, the 105-foot spruce mast snapped off."

"The three of us left on the boat clung to the rigging while the waves screamed over us. We figured the others must be dead."

"Later we heard yells and with a spotlight we saw the other two standing in a foot of water about 400 yards away."

"They returned to the boat through the surf."

At dawn they found the dinghy, its motor shattered. They made paddles and set out for an island 10 miles away. About two miles off the island two natives came out in a dug-out and towed them in.

"I'm not through sailing, but I've had enough adventure to last me for awhile. Work in an office sounds just great right now."

In September he starts work with a stock broker.

Civil Service Union Denies Raiding Charge

OTTAWA (CP) — The Civil Service Association of Canada today rejected as "spurious and unfounded" allegations of membership raiding hurled at the association.

W. L. Girey, executive secretary of the Department of Veterans Affairs Employees' National Association, charged Tuesday that the CSAC, using "an assortment of unproven claims and downright lies," had persuaded some of the "more gullible" members of the DV association to leave it and join the CSAC.

He cited workers at two veterans hospitals—Sunnybrook in Toronto and Shaughnessy in Vancouver.

Replying on behalf of the CSAC today, national president J. C. (Cal) Best said in a letter to Mr. Girey that his association has never held any organizational or other meetings with Sunnybrook employees.

"The orderlies joined the CSAC entirely of their own volition following, we are told, some two years of growing dissatisfaction with your organization," Mr. Best wrote.

He said there is a feeling among members of the DVA employees association that it is "too much influenced by officials of (veterans) institutions and does not independently represent the employees' legitimate interests."

The DVA employees' association represents about 7,500 workers in the department of veterans affairs.

The CSAC is a 33,000-member organization that recruits federal civil servants regardless of what department they work for.

Mother, Child Drop 15 Feet Fleeing Fire

VANCOUVER (CP) — A mother dropped her daughter from the roof of a two-story building and then jumped herself to escape a fire that swept through two buildings on West Broadway here.

Mrs. Jackie Lorre of Haney and her daughter Denise, 9, were trapped by flames in an upstairs apartment after a fire started in the storage area of Coe Lumber and Building Supply.

Mrs. Lorre said that flames blocked their retreat so she pushed her daughter through a window to the roof of an adjoining store, dropped her 15 feet to the lawn below, and then jumped to safety herself.

Her stepfather, Adam Kumitch, was helped out of the building by a youth who climbed up to the apartment by ladder and assisted him down.

"I am very scared of heights and wouldn't have got out without help," said Kumitch.

Kumitch's wife escaped from the building earlier with her daughter's other child, Bernhard, 11.

The blaze started in the lumber yard at the rear of the apartment and caused heavy damage. Cause of the fire is not known.

Pigeon Averages 40 Miles An Hour

A pigeon owned by Doug Wood averaged 40 miles per hour in an 82-mile race from Chilliwack to Victoria on Sunday.

The bird was one of 248 released at 9:30 a.m. and arrived home two hours, 14 minutes and 21 seconds later in a Capital City Racing Club race.

Other winning bird-owners and times: John Arnold, 2:15.45; Hans Rothgordt, 2:17.38; Bernard Woolley, 2:19.08; Dick Solley, 2:19.20; Charlie Woolley, 2:19.24; Geert Nord, 2:19.45; Ed Moodie, 2:20.45; Ken Mandley, 2:22.37; James Blackstock, 2:22.45; Joe Poir, 2:24.18; Dick Roe, 2:26.34; and R. C. Lennons, 2:25.08.

Next race is scheduled for Sunday, 110 miles from Hope to Victoria.

TURNABOUT—Liza Minnelli's a big girl now—(17)—big enough to take her mother, Judy Garland, on her knee. The occasion—a rehearsal break in Judy's new fall show, in which both will appear for their first full-fledged professional appearance together.

SIX SENATORS

Election Dec. 11 For Chancellor

Nominations have been called by the University of Victoria for election of chancellor and six senators.

Members of the university's convocation will vote in the election Dec. 11.

Named first chancellor of the university was Judge J. B. Clearhue, long-time chairman of the Victoria College Council, in the act that granted the new university its charter.

It is expected he will be nominated again.

Seven convocation members must nominate candidates for chancellor, and three must nominate candidates for senator.

MAILED OUT

R. R. Jeffels, acting registrar of the university and secretary of convocation, will assemble information sheets on all candidates and mail them to convocation members.

The convocation members then return their ballots in sealed envelopes to Mr. Jeffels for counting. He will report to the senate which will declare the results.

(Some senators—faculty members and government-appointed members—already hold office.)

The chancellor is also elected for a three-year term, but he may not hold office for more than six consecutive years.

Russia Insists Bases Go

GENEVA (Reuters) — Russia insisted Tuesday even unmanned foreign military bases must be eliminated in the first stage of disarmament.

Soviet delegate Semyon Tsarapkin told the 17-nation disarmament conference that whatever the legal basis might be, bases reserved for foreign use must be dismantled, even though there might be no troops in them.

Tsarapkin also said Russia is opposed to exchange of static observation posts between East and West unless this control is accompanied by disarmament measures.

NO PROBLEM TO JAPANESE

TOKYO (Reuters) — Japanese bar owners in a city near an American air force base have agreed not to discriminate against Negro servicemen, the U.S. 5th Air Force announced Tuesday. It said a segregation problem in Misawa, northern Japan, was "resolved quietly and in an orderly manner" after talks between bar owners and air force officials.

Green Route to Airport

Plans for a green strip along Patricia Bay Highway were disclosed Tuesday by the highways department.

Deputy highways minister H. T. Miard wrote to the Capital Region Planning Board approving its idea to preserve park-like approaches from Pat Bay to Victoria.

The department owns some land near the airport and near McDonald Park, and the Capital Improvement District Commission also owns land between Goldstream and Thetis Lake.

Mr. Miard said the department would maintain any other land which was donated.

However, it is not prepared to buy any at present.

The land would be maintained like a park, and possibly some picnic tables will be set up.

Anthony Roberts, director of the planning board, said he hoped Pat Bay Highway could now be saved from "Gasoline Alley" commercial development which has spotted approach to many North American cities.

'PLAYING WITH DYNAMITE'

U.S. Tax Seen Spawning A Castro in Canada

WASHINGTON (CP) - The U.S. Investors League says the proposed U.S. tax on foreign stocks and bonds is hurting Canada economically.

The league warned that if another depression occurred in Canada, it could cause "so much dissatisfaction and radicalism that a local Castro will arise."

"Destroying the Canadian economy for no reason at all is playing with dynamite," added the league in testimony before the House of Representatives ways and means committee.

The organization describes itself as a non-profit body representing thousands of individual investors across the U.S.

The league urged the committee to reject President Kennedy's temporary tax proposal on foreign investments sold to U.S. residents.

The New York Chamber of Commerce also opposed the measure as the committee Tuesday began a detailed examination of the controversial bill.

MAY WORSEN

The New York chamber said that the levy of up to 35 per cent, to be imposed until the end of 1965, would tend to undermine foreign confidence in the dollar and in the end might worsen rather than improve the American international payments deficit.

Youth Killed Under Tractor

CUMBERLAND — A 14-year-old Hornby Island boy was killed Tuesday evening when a farm tractor he was driving rolled on him near his home.

Stephen Slade died at 7:30 minutes before a medical team was dispatched by RCAF helicopter from Vancouver search and rescue centre.

According to RCMP, the boy was driving a farm tractor down a ravine when he lost control.

The helicopter was requested at 7:25 and the aircraft readied immediately. Takeoff was delayed about 10 minutes while the medical team was rushed to the airport.

NORTH WELLINGTON — A meeting of Wellington Safety Committee will discuss a highways department plan to hire pensioners as "lollipop men" at dangerous Jingle Pot - Island Highway intersection.

The committee is due to meet next week.

Its chairman, Frank Murphy, was to arrive home tonight. He was away when MLA Dan Campbell announced an overpass promised for school children has been abandoned by the department.

Instead, it is planned to hire men with "lollipop" traffic signs to escort children across the highway where a boy died last year.

LAKE COWICHAN — Ceremonies coinciding with Indian independence day were held Sunday to mark the reopening of 30-year-old Sikh Temple at Mesachie Lake.

East Indians from the Duncan area, other parts of Canada and the U.S. attended the event and festivities arranged by the Mesachie Lake branch of Khalsa Divan Society.

The temple was built by Hillcrest Lumber Co. and during the 1940s was moved to the lakeshore.

NANAIMO — A total of 37 charges for burglary and theft will be faced by a group of juveniles police connect with a series of summer cottage break-ins.

The children were caught over the weekend when RCMP recovered some sleeping bags, auto keys and a rifle.

It is alleged the items were taken from cottages during the past six months.

Court appearances have not yet been made.

DUNCAN — J. H. and L. C. Harkema, Salt Spring Island, made a clean sweep of the top places in the July production lists of Vancouver Island South Dairy Herd Improvement Association.

The Harkema herd had the highest average for the month, an unusually high average of 1,666 pounds of milk and 61.2 pounds of fat per cow.

Maple Leaf Easter, an eight-year-old Holstein of the herd completed the highest individual record with a showing of 21,326 pounds of milk and 691 pounds of fat in 305 days.

Dawn Day Lighter, another Holstein, led the two-year-old class with a production record of 9,333 pounds of milk and 405 pounds of fat, both from the Harkema herd.

Runner-up in the mature class was Minnie, owned by P. Rashleigh, Saanich, with 14,636 pounds of milk and 691 pounds of fat.

YOUNGBOU — Funeral services were held Tuesday from First Funeral Chapel, Duncan, for Mrs. Mary Frances Garrod, who died at Duncan Saturday in her 88th year.

Rev. Thomas Bulman officiated, followed by interment at Cedar Valley Memorial Gardens.

Born at St. Thomas, Ontario, Mrs. Garrod was married there Aug. 19, 1895. She lived at Moose Jaw, Sask., from 1901 to 1921, going to North Vancouver and later to Tappan, B.C., in 1932.

She arrived in Victoria in 1939, and for the past 10 years had been a resident of Youngbou, where she was a member of the United Church.

Predeceased by her daughter, Mrs. Nellie Moore, of Smithers, Mrs. Garrod is survived by her husband, Robert; three sons, Stanley, West Vancouver; Lloyd, Campbell River, and Bert, Tappan; three daughters, Mrs. C. J. (Rebecca) Hague, Campbell River; Mrs. S. E. (Vera) Rushton, Williams Lake, and Mrs. D. (Ruth) Nagy, Youngbou; 21 grandchildren and 20 great-grandchildren; and a brother, J. J. EXTENSION OF BORDERS PREDICTED AT NANAIMO

NANAIMO — Highways Minister Phil Gaglardi ended a whirlwind tour of the district Tuesday convinced that Nanaimo will have to extend its boundaries and that a by-pass road should be built around the city.

He also said he favored the Commercial Inlet development plan, which includes a proposed road link across the inlet.

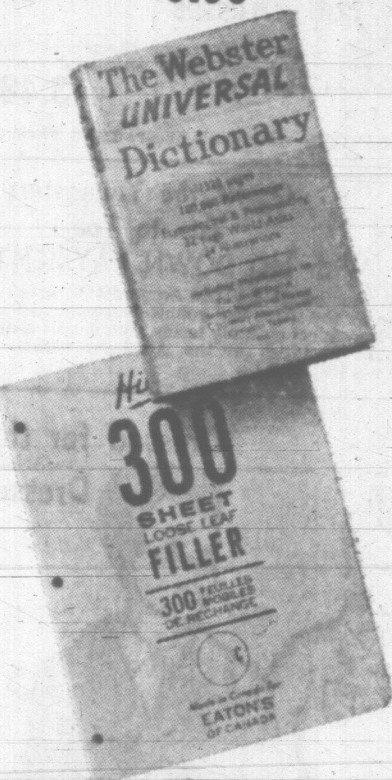

Mr. Gaglardi made the tour with Mayor Peter Maffeo and Recreation Minister Earle Westwood who is MLA for Nanaimo and the Islands.

Fire-Damaged Bridge to Be Repaired Soon

DUNCAN — Repairs are expected to be made soon to the fire-damaged Skutz Falls bridge on Cowichan River, restoring a fire protection link between north and south banks 10 miles west of Duncan.

Police, B.C. Forest Service and the provincial fire marshal suspect arson is involved in the blaze that destroyed decking and some stringers early Sunday.

The bridge is now impassable, severing the prime B.C. Forest Service access road between Duncan and Lake Cowichan.

Road users must drive nine miles to Lake Cowichan or the 10 miles to Duncan in order to cross the river. Hunters and firefighters are chief users. The road and bridge were formerly part of the Maye Lumber Co. logging road network for which the forest service assumed responsibility.

By THE CANADIAN PRESS

In Israel a woman shapes foreign policy. . . . Ceylon has a woman prime minister. . . . In Nationalist China and South Viet Nam women act as powers behind the throne.

These cases, and others not so prominent, reflect the fact that women are emerging from obscurity in the Eastern world.

While Arab countries still relegate women to the background, Mrs. Golda Meir, first as Israel's labor minister and now as foreign minister, has been a major figure in Middle Eastern politics.

And, unlike many of her sister politicians in the Far East who entered politics through marriage, Mrs. Meir rose on her abilities as an orator and organizer.

MEIR

Now a widow of 65, Mrs. Meir was born in the Russian Ukraine and grew up in Milwaukee, moving after her marriage to Palestine. She worked as a laborer on a "kibbutz" settlement, organized trade unions and helped to smuggle immigrants into the British-administered territory.

CARRIED GUN

On one occasion she went through British lines with a sten gun hidden in her skirt. Years later she travelled into hostile territory disguised as an Arab to negotiate with a Bedouin chieftain.

Her turbulent training contrasts vividly with that of Mrs. Sirimavo Bandaranaike of Ceylon, the world's only woman prime minister.

was brought up in upper-class cloistered surroundings and took no active part in politics before the day in 1959 when an assassin shot and killed her husband, Prime Minister Solomon Bandaranaike, on the porch of their home.

Mrs. Bandaranaike, although she says she never wanted the post, accepted the leadership of her husband's party, became prime minister in 1960 and since then has become a controversial figure both in Ceylon and throughout the Far East.

She has struggled with monumental problems at home—opposition from minority groups, labor unrest, economic troubles and an attempted coup d'etat. Last year she took the lead in drafting a "non-aligned" peace plan to solve the India-China border clash.

MME. CHAING

Sometimes accused of being Communist, Mrs. Bandaranaike in reply once quoted President Kennedy as saying: "If a free society cannot help the many who are poor, it can never save the few who are rich."

While Mrs. Bandaranaike has often been embroiled in controversy, her public statements are tame compared with those of Mrs. Ngo Dinh Nhu, the dark-eyed, tiny and strong-willed "first lady" of South Viet Nam.

Mrs. Nhu, sister-in-law and longtime adviser to bachelor President Ngo Dinh Diem, has come to prominence in recent weeks with her crackling comments on Buddhist demonstrations for religious equality.

DRILL NEW ESCAPE HOLE TO FREE THREE MINERS

HAZLETON, Pa. (AP)—Drilling of a new escape hole for three trapped miners began today.

Two of the men, trapped 331 feet underground and able to talk to the surface through a six-inch hole, reported they had re-established contact, after nearly 40 hours, with a companion who is separated from them by a wall of debris in the tunnel where they fled after the main mine shaft walls collapsed eight days ago.

The third man is Louis Bova, 42. The other trapped men, David Fellin, 58, and Henry Throne, 28, set off a scene of wild rejoicing on the surface late Tuesday night when they told of talking briefly with Bova and then getting answering knocks on the mine wall after they no longer could maintain voice contact with him.

Fellin and Throne requested, and received, small tools to try to dig toward where Bova is trapped.

Two six-inch rescue holes have been drilled into the mine—the lifeline one through which Fellin and Throne talk and receive supplies and the second one which broke through Monday night into the area where Bova is believed trapped.

Mine officials expressed great concern for Bova.

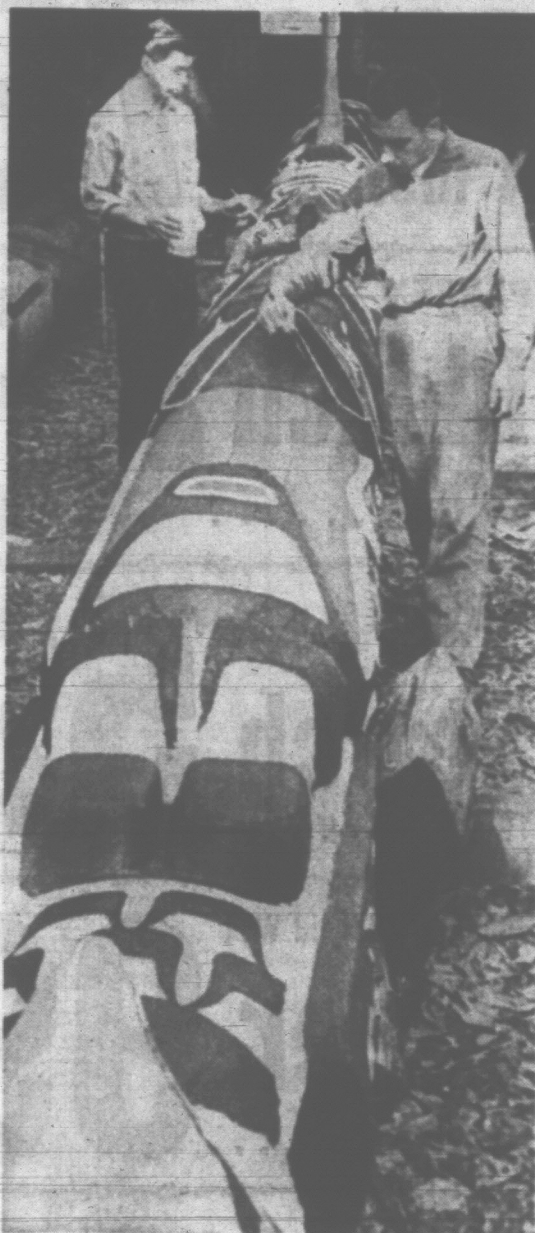

Bova's wife, Eva, 32, continued to hold out hope after learning of the report from the other miners.

However, one of his brothers, Peter, 58, who was trapped for seven days in a mine cave-in in 1928, said:

"My brother is going to die. I know it and he knows it. But his wife is there and he doesn't want her to know the truth. He's been a miner too long not to realize the shape he's in."

Drilling of a new escape hole began shortly after dawn today as a dense fog shrouded the area.

Hunger Strikers At Prison Gates

AGASSIZ, B.C. (CP)—More than 300 Sons of Freedom Doukhobors camping around the gates of Mountain Prison have gone on a hunger strike in sympathy with 116 members of the sect behind the prison's bars.

Meanwhile, 43 of the inmates who have gone without food for 30 days were being fed by prison officials.

Some were drinking egg nog from cups but others, including 19 women, had to be fed through rubber tubes inserted through the nose into the stomach.

Meanwhile, Kent municipal council was to meet today with RCMP officials in an attempt to solve the problem faced by the municipality with the arrival of the Freedomites from Vancouver Tuesday.

The Freedomite campsite, 200 yards from the prison gates, apparently violates a Kent municipal bylaw prohibiting tent camps of more than 10 persons an acre.

WASHINGTON RAPS STRONG-ARM ACTS

WASHINGTON (AP)—The United States sharply denounced today the South Viet Nam regime's strong-arm acts against Buddhists. However, high authorities said American help in the South Vietnamese war against Communist guerrillas would continue.

The Diem crackdown against Buddhist opposition brought in to focus a dilemma which has been growing on U.S. strategists.

On the one hand they dislike Diem's authoritarianism. On the other, they have seen no likely successor who could command wide support among the South Vietnamese people. In the meantime, their first priority has been and still is the fight against the Communists.

STATE OF SIEGE

Buddhist Monks Battle Troops

SAIGON (Reuters)—Monks and laymen fought troops who stormed Buddhist pagodas here and in Hue today as martial law was declared through South Viet Nam.

A curfew was clamped on this capital and soldiers and police were ordered to shoot curfew-breakers.

SAIGON radio said there were casualties when troops chased monks out of the main Xa Loi pagoda here.

(Informal diplomatic sources in Singapore said there were some deaths at the pagoda, but there was no official confirmation. The sources said 12 truckloads of monks were taken from the pagoda by the army and ambulances were seen carrying the wounded to hospitals.)

In Hue, a major city 400 miles north of here where the Buddhist struggle for religious rights first flared, Saigon radio said Buddhists attacked security forces with sticks and stones wounding nine men, five of them seriously.

BURNED PAGODA

"Extremist elements" tried to set fire to Hues Tu Dam pagoda area in Hue, according to the government.

Buddhists, who comprise 70 per cent of South Viet Nam's population, complain of religious persecution.

MONTREAL (CP) —

Police said today they have arrested 27 persons, including a woman and an 85-year-old man, in a series of raids on suspected distributors of sweepstakes tickets.

They said the raids, begun in secret Monday morning and completed at noon today, also turned up a list containing names and addresses of distributors all over North America.

Police also reported seizure of an estimated 100,000 sweepstakes tickets and ticket stubs. They said the market value of the sold and unsold tickets is about $250,000.

HEARING SET

One of the 27 persons arrested, Philip Turpin of suburban town of Mount Royal, was charged with operating an illegal lottery and preliminary hearing was set for Aug. 29.

Police said 16 others have been charged with illegal possession of sweepstakes tickets and the remaining 10, including the elderly man and the woman, are to be arraigned on the same charge. Of the 16 already charged, 12 had pleaded guilty and were remanded one week for sentence.

They said more than $2,000 in cash and 10,000 Irish and Army and Navy sweepstakes tickets were seized in the raids, carried out in several Montreal Island municipalities.

Border Guard Flees

BERLIN (Reuters)—A uniformed 20-year-old East German border guard jumped on the Moscow-Paris express as it slowly left the East Berlin sector and escaped into West Berlin. West Berlin police reported Wednesday.

JET-LIKE NIGHTSTICK FOR BRITISH BOBBIES?

LONDON (AP)—The Home Office and Scotland Yard, which restrict the use of pistols by policemen, are showing interest in a jet-like nightstick that can stun and tear gas a robber, its inventor says.

The inventor is Col. Latham Valentine Stewart-Blacker, 76, who was paid £32,000 ($96,000) for inventing the Pat anti-tank gun used in the Second World War.

Blacker said the flying nightstick, about two feet long, is accurate up to 300 feet.

"It will knock a bandit over and stun him but it won't kill him," Blacker said. "If the stick misses, the thick stream of tear gas it carries will hinder his getaway."

And it costs less than £1 to produce, he said.

The club looks like a large dart.

It has a rubber head containing tear gas and a small, round flight stabilizer on its tail. It's housed in a regular-sized nightstick.

Mid-East Tension Mounts

DAMASCUS, Syria (AP)—Iraq today mobilized its army and air force on standby alert and announced it was placing its armed forces under the command of the Syrian National Revolutionary Council following air and ground clashes between Syria and Israel.

Both Damascus and Baghdad radios cancelled regular programs and whipped Syria and Iraq into a state of excitement by broadcasting martial music, patriotic songs, telegrams of support and threats against Israel in the wake of Tuesday's battles.

Baghdad radio declared Iraq's National Revolutionary Council was "prepared to support Syria immediately with all military means and moral resources."

A statement by the council said the entire armed forces were on a state of alert and were being placed under command of the Syrian high command in Damascus.

The moves came less than 24 hours after Syria announced an armed clash with 15 Israeli armored cars on the 70-mile armistice line and both Syria and Israel announced an air battle between Syrian MiG-17 fighter planes and Israeli Mirages.

SAY PLANES DOWNED

Each country claimed its fighters shot down one of the other's planes. Each accused the other of violating its air space. A Syrian air force spokesman, admitted a Syrian MiG was hit but said the plane made it back to its base.

Israel filed a complaint against Syria with the UN Security Council. The council was expected to meet in New York Friday or early next week.

Syria instructed its UN delegation to file counter-charges.

As tension gripped Syria, Arab political quarrelling was forgotten. The United Arab Republic pledges its support to Syria against Israeli aggression. Jordan and Saudi Arabia, despite propaganda directed against them by Syria, said they stood by Syria in the emergency.

BENNETT:

BCE Price 'The Only Question'

The B.C. Electric case is now "only a question of price," Premier Bennett declared today.

And he intimated that the B.C. government may be prepared to go higher than the $192,000,000 evaluation set by Supreme Court Judge Sherwood Lett.

Mr. Bennett predicted at a press conference that once the compensation price for the takeover of B.C. Electric is settled the legal hassle over ownership will be dropped.

'INTERESTING'

He said that negotiations between the government and B.C. Power Corporation, the original owners, now are at "a very interesting stage", but declined to predict when settlement will be reached.

The premier added that if necessary he will call a special session of the legislature before the regular date next January to clear the way for speedy settlement.

The legislature would have to approve the new price to be paid.

New Ferry Authority Due in '64

The B.C. Toll Bridges and Highways Authority will be abolished at the next session of the legislature, Premier Bennett announced today.

It will be replaced by a new government ferry authority, he said.

The Toll Authority will be left with only its ferry operations when tolls are lifted from the Deas Island Tunnel and Oak Street Bridge next April 1.

Mr. Bennett said all present toll bridge and highway facilities will then be handed over to the highways department.

COST $34 MILLION

It will cost more than $34,000,000 to pay off the debt on the bridge and tunnel.

Mr. Bennett said the money will come from the current year's provincial revenue, which will hit a new record, and from the revenue surplus account, which now consists of $24,000,000.

Mr. Bennett held a press conference the day after his return from a week-long trip to England and France.

He said financial reports he received from B.C. while away prompted his decision to lift the only remaining bridge tolls.

'NEVER AGAIN'

"As long as I'm premier there will never be a toll bridge in B.C. again," he pledged.

Current toll on the tunnel is 50 cents. The Oak St. bridge costs 25 cents.

At March 31 this year the total debt outstanding on both was $35,229,473.

By next April 1, this will be reduced by something under $1,000,000 on the basis of recent years payments.

Although toll revenue last year topped $2,000,000, the bridge and tunnel operated at a net deficit of $340,906.

The Toll Authority, set up in 1953, was originally supposed to build highways and bridges, financing them from tolls.

The act establishing it specifies that toll shall not be removed until all debt is cleared. In 1960, the Toll Authority went into the ferry business in a big way with its Swartz Bay-Towwassen service.

In 1961 it bought the Gulf Islands service, and at the end of the year took over the Black Ball services between Nanaimo and Horseshoe Bay and on the Sechart Peninsula. Debt soared to more than $100,000,000.

But this spring tolls were removed from five bridges—

... that uncertain feeling

PAMELA
... pretty neat, huh?

... Shorter and Even Sweeter

Final result pleases Roxana and Pamela, but little Margaret Anne is just a mite doubtful about the whole affair. Mrs. Powers, who made the big decision, only hopes she was right. (Bill Halkett photos.)

The Glory That Was Theirs...

When the photo at left first appeared in The Times about two weeks ago, Mr. and Mrs. William Powers, 1271 Monterey, were mighty proud of their three daughters—Margaret Anne, 5; Pamela, 7, and Roxana, 8. Each young lady was beautifully crowned with hair which had never been cut. But then Mrs. Powers began to wonder how they'd look with more modish hair-dos; the next step was a visit to Maison George, where hair stylist George surveyed the situation and took drastic snips.

COLLISION VICTIM SUCKED INTO PROP

A fisherman who died after a freighter collided with his skiff in Juan de Fuca Strait Tuesday has been identified as Ashbjorn Brattli, 10873-130th Street, North Vancouver.

He was apparently sucked into the freighter's propeller, which cut off a leg. He was picked up by the fisheries patrol vessel Howay but died before the ship reached Port Renfrew. The accident occurred in fog off Clo-oose, south of Bamfield on the west coast of Vancouver Island.

His partner in the skiff was Raymond Bak, 2725 West 31st Avenue, Vancouver, who suffered severe shock but escaped other injury.

The dead man was wearing a lifejacket, the survivor was not. At the time of the accident, the two men were setting a net for the Nelson Bros. seiner Western Girl. The freighter involved was the Horace Luckenbach, New York.

DEMOLAY STUNT

Marathon Car Wash Planned

A group of Victoria youths are going to wash cars until they drop next week.

Rich Sunderland, 17, of 1648 Richardson, and three accomplices have organized a marathon car wash to be held at Suburban Motors Shell station starting at noon Monday.

They plan to sponge cars day and night—99 cents regular; 75 cents sports models—until they have to throw in the sponge, or fall asleep.

BEST IN WORLD

"It's for the Order of Demolay," Rich says. "Most people don't know what Demolay is and we think it is the best organization in the world."

Demolay is a group of teenagers banded together to build character and promote responsible citizenship.

From Sept. 13-15 at Camp Potlatch, near Vancouver, they will hold their annual camp, assisted by funds derived from the car wash.

Aiding and abetting Sunderland will be Brian Tyre, 16; Steve Holmes, 16; Eric Cable, 18, and others of the order who are able to help from time to time.

THE BANG WAS GONE

A navy mine and mortar bomb found to be harmless by a demolition team rushed to remote Nootka Island, an RCN spokesman said today.

A beachcomber reported a practice mine and a drill mortar bomb on the beach two miles east of Bajo Point.

The navy sent a team under Lieut. Cmdr. W. E. James, of the operational diving unit, via RCAF helicopter.

The team found neither weapon explosive, but blew holes in them so they would not float if washed off the beach again.

ALDERMAN'S IDEA

Farmyard Frolics For Park Visitors

Any service club in search of a community project could not do better than set up a summertime farmyard animal pen in one of the city parks, Ald. M. H. Mooney said today.

"The children would just love it," he said. "There are hundreds of children here who would be really eager to see some ordinary domestic animals and watch them grow."

"I'll bet there'd be a lot of adults who got a kick out of it, too."

Ald. Mooney said he would give his full support as parks committee chairman to any community organization that wanted to take up the idea.

ON-LOAN

He said he was sure that farmers would be willing to lend some piglets, calves, lambs, kids and baby rabbits if they were assured they would receive adequate care.

These could be returned to the farmers each fall and a fresh batch of young stock obtained the following summer.

"The most popular site undoubtedly would be in Beacon Hill Park's present animal pen but I'm sure we could provide room in any of the other parks if they were preferred," said Ald. Mooney.

He said the animals could be housed in specially-built nursery rhyme displays as has been done in Edmonton's popular nursery-rhyme barnyard park.

LOS ANGELES, MAINLAND GUESTS

55 Scouts Off Sunday on Olympic Trek

Fifty-five Vancouver Island Boy Scouts, with two guest scouts from Los Angeles and a few from the mainland, will hike 55 miles through the Olympic Mountains, starting Sunday.

Leaving here by the 10 a.m. ferry for Port Angeles, they will camp each night under plastic tarps, about three feet high, and cook their meals with special mountain-pack dehydrated foods.

"Fires will be lit in safe areas," said assistant Victoria scout commissioner Glenn Oliphant, who will lead the hikers with R. L. V. Jermain.

SEPARATE ROUTES

Mr. Oliphant will be scoutmaster of the Skokomish troop, while Mr. Jermain will lead the Skyline troop. Each troop will take a different route through the mountains, meeting at Quinalt Lake on Saturday, Aug. 31.

They will return to Victoria Sunday, Sept. 1.

The two guests from Los Angeles are Tom McGrath, 17, of Canora Park troop and Robert Albrecht, 15, of Woodland Hills troop. Their host in Victoria is Dennis Arnsdorf, 17, of 4th Cedar Hill troop.

Last year three Victoria scouts took part in a 60-mile hike organized by Los Angeles scouts through the High Sierras.

"We returned their hospitality by inviting the Los Angeles scouts to send two or three guests up here," Mr. Oliphant said.

'STEAMED UP'

"We are now praying for fine weather. It should be a first-class expedition and all the boys are pretty steamed up about it."

Meantime, Dennis Arnsdorf is showing the Los Angeles scouts the highlights of Victoria.

"It seems very quiet after Los Angeles," said Tom McGrath; "a really nice place for a vacation."

Hits 'Narrow Canadianism'

Premier Bennett said today he is opposed to what he called a "narrow Canadianism" that dictates a buy-Canadian policy.

Instead, he said, Canada should buy more from Britain. He announced a "Buy British" policy for B.C. at a press conference on his return from a week's visit to Britain and France.

"Our difficulty is that we buy too much from Ontario and Quebec who buy hardly anything from us," Mr. Bennett said. He said B.C. will make representations to the federal government for a lowering of tariffs on British goods.

Britain buys two and a half times more than she sells in Canada, he said.

SALES PITCH

He said his mission to Britain was to urge industry there to make a big sales pitch in B.C.

He said he met with a number of industrial leaders, and also held talks with Britain's president of the board of trade, F. J. Erroll.

He dined with Canadian newspaper tycoon Roy Thompson in London, and with Lord Beaverbrook at his villa in the south of France, where he spent three days.

Mr. Bennett said that he took his former executive assistant Ronald B. Worley, now assistant manager of B.C. ferries, with him to Europe.

WORLEY NEEDED

He said Mr. Worley was needed to assist his present executive aide, W. C. Budd, in a heavy round of engagements.

The premier said he urged British firms to send agents to B.C. and drummed up exhibits for the B.C. Trade Fair to be held in Vancouver next May.

"Britain is not covering the B.C. market," the premier said. He said that in the past year goods worth $128,000,000 were exported to the U.K., while imports totalled only $52,000,000. "That can't last," he said.

"As head of the government here it was my duty to try and rectify the situation."

He said his decision to go to England was made while in Halifax at the beginning of the month for a provincial premiers conference, although the idea had been planned for several months.

Army Wife to Shun Germany Transfer

Because of dissatisfaction over housing arrangements, at least one Victoria soldier's wife will not go to Germany with the Princess Patricia's Canadian Light Infantry when the regiment is moved to Hemer in October and November.

"It isn't good enough," the soldier's wife told The Times. "My husband will do his duty and go to Hemer. I shall stay here with our two children. I know other wives in Victoria feel the same."

This informant said she had just learned her family would not get married quarters at Hemer.

"We have been warned we will have to find quarters in German civilian homes, with perhaps two or three families sharing a bathroom. With two small children, I won't settle for those conditions."

$100 FOR DOG

"Furthermore, we have to pay for the transportation of our pets to Germany. We estimate it will cost us at least $100 to take our dog over. All pets are weighed by the pound and have to be paid for accordingly."

The soldier's wife quoted from page 38 of the Guide for Dependents' Proceeding to Europe, issued under authority of the Canadian Army adjutant-general.

It reads: "Approximately one out of every two Canadian families in Germany is occupying civilian accommodation. These families should be prepared to accept living conditions very different to those to which they have been accustomed in Canada."

"Housing is scarce and your husband may have great difficulty in obtaining accommodation."

SHARE FACILITIES

"That which is available frequently entails the sharing of kitchens and bathrooms. Some families may find themselves in remote villages with the companionship of few, if any other Canadians."

"Hot water and heat is uncertain; electricity is expensive and modern household equipment is rarely found."

The guide to dependents states that 150 married quarters are available for 350 families on a priority basis. The rest must find civilian accommodation.

"If we had four children we would probably get married quarters," the soldier's wife said. "Having only two, we are among the unlucky ones."

"I know of one case where a Victoria soldier, with 12 years' service, recently left the army because he will not accept poor living conditions for his family. He has been to Germany before and knows what we are up against."

A spokesman for the PPCLI at Work Point Barracks declined comment on this statement today.

Tax Collectors Say Forgetters Causing Rush

City taxpayers seem to have forgotten the "taxes due" date was pushed ahead last year to July 31, officials guessed today.

Latest count shows collections made a remarkable surge in the first half of August after being almost $100,000 behind the 1962 level when the deadline was passed.

Main explanation comptroller-treasurer James Bramley thinks is the amount of publicity on the due date.

"Last year we gave it far more publicity because it was the first year of the switch-over advancing the due date. This year there was just the routine amount of publicity."

A 1 per cent penalty went into effect Aug. 1 and further 1 per cent penalties will be added on unpaid taxes Sept. 4 and Oct. 15. On Nov. 30 an additional 3 per cent penalty will be levied.

Ask The Times

Q. Will you please tell me what and where was the disturbance caused by production of the Playboy of the Western World somewhere in the United States early this century.—N. M.

A. The disturbance to which you refer was probably the riot in the Abbey Theatre, Dublin, in 1907 when the play was first presented. Patrons of the theatre thought that the author, John Millington Synge, had misrepresented Irish rural life.

The play has since been acclaimed as Synge's masterpiece. There is no record of its having caused a disturbance in an American production.

Q. What is the address of the Ford Motor Company of Canada?—M. A.

A. 120 Bloor Street E., Toronto 5, Ont.

Youth Killed Under Tractor

CUMBERLAND — A 14-year-old Hornby Island boy was killed Tuesday evening when a farm tractor he was driving rolled on him near his home.

Stephen Slade died at 7:30, minutes before a medical team was dispatched by RCAF helicopter from Vancouver search and rescue centre.

According to RCMP, the boy was driving a farm tractor down a ravine when he lost control.

The helicopter was requested at 7:25 and the aircraft readied immediately. Takeoff was delayed about 10 minutes while the medical team was rushed to the airport.

NORTH WELLINGTON — A meeting of Wellington Safety Committee will discuss a highways department plan to hire pensioners as "lollipop men" at dangerous Jingle Pot Island Highway intersection.

The committee is due to meet next week.

Its chairman, Frank Murphy, was to arrive home tonight. He was away when MLA Dan Campbell announced an overpass promised for school children has been abandoned by the department.

Instead, it is planned to hire men with "lollipop" traffic signs to escort children across the highway where a boy died last year.

DUNCAN — J. H. and L. C. Harkema, Salt Spring Island, made a clean sweep of the top places in the July production lists of Vancouver Island South Dairy Herd Improvement Association.

The Harkema herd had the highest average for the month, an unusually high average of 1,666 pounds of milk and 61.2 pounds of fat per cow.

Maple Leaf Easter, an eight-year-old Holstein of the herd completed the highest individual record with a showing of 21,326 pounds of milk and 691 pounds of fat in 305 days.

Dawn Day Lighter, another Holstein, led the two-year-old class with a production record of 9,333 pounds of milk and 405 pounds of fat, both from the Harkema herd.

Runner-up in the mature class was Minnie, owned by P. Rashleigh, Saanich, with 14,636 pounds of milk and 691 pounds of fat.
